ONE MAN DUG IN, 700,000 CRAWLED

BOSTON (UPI)—A sudden transit strike made motorists of straphangers today and Boston experienced its worst traffic tie-up in memory.

Gov. Foster Furcolo declared a state of emergency. The strike began when a bus driver was suspended for refusing to leave on a run that would have brought him home two minutes late Monday. Word spread like wildfire through the system and one division after another closed down, leaving commuters stranded.

New expressway approaches to the downtown area, suburban freeways and tunnel and bridge approaches were hopelessly clogged Monday night and again during today's rush hour. Over-heated cars stalled and added to the chaos.

All on-street parking in Boston's central core was banned.

The Metropolitan Transit Authority sought a Superior Court injunction against the Carmen's Union even as some 700,000 commuters pondered their fate.

Edward L. Burns, 42, of Westford, was the driver who refused to work two minutes overtime after his normal shift ended, according to the MTA. He was suspended.

MTA workers in some areas walked off their jobs and just before the evening rush hour the agency was shut down completely. There was practically no warning to the public.

MRS. POWERS TO LEAVE

Tearful Pilot Says Goodbye

MOSCOW (UPI)—Barbara Powers was reunited for an hour today with her husband, American U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, in a tearful scene that she said may be their last meeting for three years.

Powers' father, mother and sister visited him earlier in the Soviet supreme court building. Newsmen got the impression they did not plan to see him again.

Barbara, 25, said her husband began crying when he learned he probably would face the next three years without them.

Barbara said her 31-year-old husband did not know which prison he would be sent to. She said she probably would be allowed to see him every two months.

Because of the infrequency of such possible visits, Barbara indicated she may not remain in Russia as previously planned.

"He would be worried about how I was living and I would be upset every time I saw him," Barbara said. "It may be better not to see him at all until he gets out of prison and into the labor camp, where I may be able to stay with him a couple of months."

"He was very emotional knowing we would be going away."

Frank Rogers, Barbara's American lawyer, told a news conference that Powers told her he "would be a model prisoner in every way so as to get time off for good behavior."

Rogers said Powers also told his wife he "will try to learn to speak Russian," and "advised her and her mother to go home by boat and get a good rest."

PGE Seeks Link To Alberta Line

FORT ST. JOHN (CP)—Premier Bennett, who has said the Social Credit Party will fight its campaign for the Sept. 12 provincial election on its eight-year record, gave the people of Northern British Columbia something additional as he opened his campaign in Fort St. John Monday night.

Mr. Bennett announced that the government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway has opened negotiations with the Northern Alberta Railway for a second connection between the two lines.

The PGE already connects with the NAR at Dawson Creek. The premier told a political rally that if the NAR will build from Hines Creek to the B.C. border, the PGE will be extended northward to make the next connection.

der that now mostly depend on truck transport.

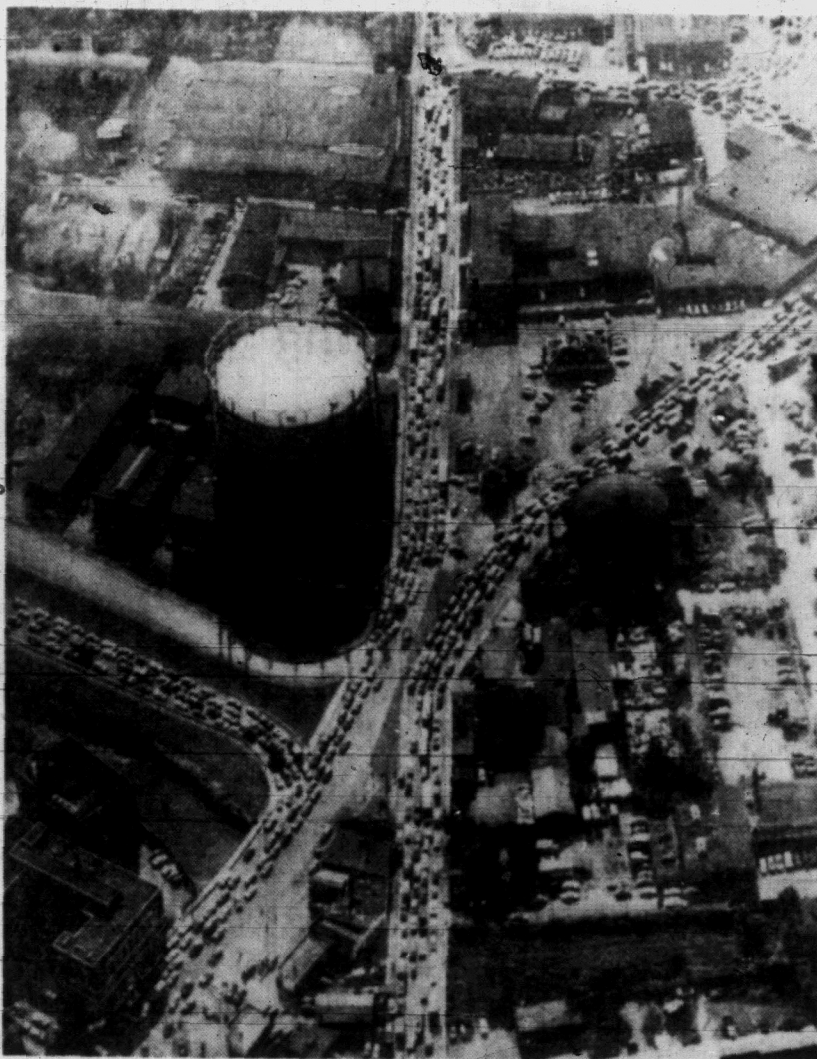

Mr. Bennett was addressing 600 persons, probably the largest political meeting ever held in this centre of B.C.'s growing northern oil country.

The premier reviewed the eight-year record of his government and made these other main points:

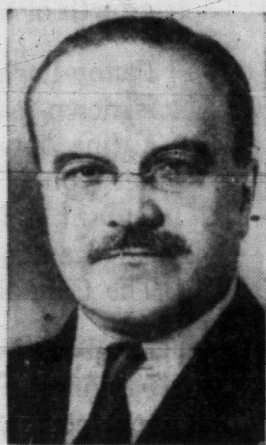

1. Construction will start shortly on a $93,000,000 natural gasline from Fort Nelson to Taylor, near here.

2. Construction will begin forthwith on a vast oil gathering system to bring B.C. crude

De Gaulle Rebuffed By Sudan

PARIS (UPI)—France's former West African colony of Sudan today rebuffed an attempt by President Charles de Gaulle to mediate its explosive dispute with neighboring Senegal.

In a message to De Gaulle, Sudanese Premier Modibo Keita gave no immediate reply to an invitation to come to Paris for mediation of the dispute resulting from the break-up of the Mali Federation, which combined Sudan and Senegal.

MADE CHARGES

Instead, he made what he described as three "very serious" charges against France: —That French officers had been primarily responsible for the troubles between the Sudan and Senegal.

—That France had "accepted" the breakup of the Mali Federation.

—That France has denounced the agreements linking it with the Mali Federation.

Keita said he would reply "later" to De Gaulle's invitation to come to Paris.

Meantime, Senegal's Premier Mamdou Dia, who pulled his country out of the federation, arrived here for talks with De Gaulle. He confirmed that Seneg-I intends to stand alone as an independent unit.

In an airport statement, he held out no hope that his talks with De Gaulle would do anything to heal the breach with the Sudan.

6 Die in B.C. Crash

CRANBROOK, B.C. (CP)—Six people were killed today when a car plunged off an uncompleted bridge into the Elk River near this town, 50 miles west of the Alberta border.

UN TROOPS FIGHT TRIBE

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—Heavy fighting is reported to have broken out in the Katanga town of Albertville between United Nations troops from the Mali Federation and Balubakat tribesmen.

Messages from Albertville say the Mali troops are in a desperate position and are calling for reinforcements. The tribe opposes Katanga's bid for independence from the Congo government.

Mali troops reported "many dead and wounded" but did not say whether these casualties were their own or Balubakat. The reports said Mali troops opened fire to protect their own lives.

In Brussels, a Belgian defence ministry spokesman said Belgian troops have successfully defended the Albertville railway station against attacking Congolese.

The spokesman said Belgian troops, still in charge of maintaining order in Albertville, had to repulse hordes of Congolese armed with lances and bows and arrows, during disturbances Monday and today.

He said the only reports received here made no mention of United Nations troops being involved.

Unusual Hike In Summer Jobless Rolls

Up 11,000
In July
Over June

OTTAWA (CP)—Unemployment in Canada showed an unusual increase of 11,000 from mid-June to total 311,000 on July 23, the government reported today. The jobless level was $3,000 higher than a year earlier.

The monthly rise in unemployment, attributed mainly to manufacturing and construction layoffs in Ontario and Quebec, was a departure from the normal yearly pattern in which unemployment drops steadily until the low point in September.

"However, construction employment in other regions increased about as much as usual and there were small advances in trade and transportation industries," the report said.

POST-WAR RECORD

The 311,000 unemployed—a post-war record for July—represented 4.7 per cent of a labor force of 6,592,000. Unemployment a month earlier was 4.6 per cent of a 6,454,000 labor force and a year ago, when the labor force was 6,434,000, unemployment was at the 3.5-per cent level.

The last time unemployment rose between June and July was in 1957 in the early stages of the last recession. Last year the monthly jobless figures also departed from the normal pattern by rising between July and August but dropped again in September.

The bureau of statistics said employment increased "somewhat more slowly" than normal between June and July, rising by 127,000 to 6,281,000. This was 75,000 more than the number of job-holders in mid-July last year.

GAIN ON FARMS

All of the monthly gain, however, was in farm employment which rose by 138,000 to 820,000. Employment in non-farm jobs, which usually increases moderately in the month, declined by 11,000 to 5,461,000.

The report on the labor force survey said one of the month's main developments was the annual influx of students into the labor force. The number of job-holders under 20 years of age rose by 174,000 in the month, while the number over 25 years declined by almost 50,000.

The number of persons on temporary layoff rose to 18,000 in mid-July from 15,000 a month earlier and 12,000 a year earlier.

A breakdown of the mid-July unemployment figure showed 260,000 were men—up slightly from June and 74,000 more than a year earlier. An estimated 51,000 were women—the same as a month earlier but 9,000 more than last year.

British Columbia employment rose more than seasonally, up in the month by 22,000 to 554,000, but down from last year. Agriculture, tourist and construction industries contributed to the monthly gain.

A number of plywood plants and sawmills shut down for vacations or slowed down because of big inventories and logging was curtailed because of the severe forest fire hazard. Fire fighting gave temporary work for many woods workers. Unemployment declined slightly but remained "substantially higher" than last year.

'Shocking Condition'

OTTAWA (CP)—The 1,100,000-member Canadian Labor Congress said today the latest unemployment figures—showing an unusual 11,000 jump in jobless rankings between June and July—foreshadowed an "extremely serious" outlook for winter work.

"The government's figures on unemployment are evidence of a shocking condition which calls for immediate and urgent government action," said CLC president Claude Jodoin.

KHRUSHCHEV
... "symptoms of alcoholic"

TIPSY MR. K MIGHT PRESS 'WAR BUTTON'

HAMILTON (CP)—Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev has all the symptoms of a first-rate alcoholic, according to a United States expert on alcoholism.

Dr. Wayne W. Womer, executive director of Educational Service on the Alcoholic Problem, Richmond, Va., said in an interview Monday there is a chance that Mr. Khrushchev, under the influence of alcohol "might push the button setting off the first atomic bomb some day."

From watching the Russian leader's erratic actions during his visit to the U.S., Dr. Womer said he would imagine him to be a heavy drinker or a drunk.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (UPI)—Cuba maintained silence today on U.S. charges that it has become a base "to spread the Communist revolution throughout Latin America."

Cuba's Raul Roa declined to include his name with U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter among the scheduled speakers at western-hemisphere foreign ministers moved into their second day of debate on the issue of communist infiltration.

"We will answer if and when we consider necessary," was his only immediate comment.

Takeover Of Banks?

HAVANA (UPI)—Fidel Castro's rapid-fire expropriation of U.S.-owned sugar mills has produced a serious bank crisis in Cuba, informed sources said today.

The sources believed nationalization of all banks—both foreign and domestically owned—was near at hand unless the situation eases.

The document, presented as a supplement to a long denunciation filed with the organization of American States earlier this month, further accused the Castro regime of destroying civil liberties to put the people of Cuba behind a "cane curtain."

WRONG SOLUTION KILLED PATIENT

ANNISTON, Ala. (AP) — A solution apparently used to clean a laboratory technician's uniform was pumped into a man's stomach by mistake, killing him almost instantly, coroner Joe Frank Gullede reported.

Gullede said the 61-year-old man was undergoing tests to decide if he had stomach ulcers. The coroner said a technician picked up a container of sodium cyanide instead of one of 7 per cent alcohol usually used for such tests.

The coroner said the sodium cyanide had been diluted by a woman employee to clean her uniform. The solution was administered to William Murray through a tube in his stomach.

Hospital administrator James Ambrose said both technicians since have been discharged.

Saanich Council Rejects Plebiscite on New Hall

A motion to submit a plebiscite in December asking ratepayers if they are in favor of the Swan Lake area as a site for a new municipal hall, was defeated by a majority vote at a Saanich council meeting Monday.

The motion was proposed by Coun. Leslie Passmore who has been waging a one-man battle against the proposed municipal hall site.

He claimed the land was too expensive.

He also held that Saanich was acquiring too much property—33 acres—for its proposed civic centre which will eventually consist of a health and welfare centre, a new fire hall to replace the Old No. 1 fire hall on Douglas, and a municipal hall.

The additional or surplus property will be used for parking, a small park and for other buildings which may be required with time.

Reeve George Chatterton said a plebiscite would be impractical.

"How are we to interpret the vote if ratepayers vote against the site," he said. "Are we to continue to submit plebiscite after plebiscite until a site is approved?"

The reeve pointed that the electorate would have a vote on the construction of the new municipal hall.

"But there are things they expect us to do," he said. "The present site was selected after careful investigations by our experts."

Coun. Passmore said it was a "dirty trick" to appropriate land from people at a time when property values are going up on the Patricia Bay Highway.

Victoria Mining Executive Killed in Mainland Crash

A Victorian was killed and two mainland British Columbians suffered chest injuries in a highway collision Sunday 16 miles east of Sicamous.

Killed was Lorne Edwin Mackenzie, 76, of 200 Douglas Street. He was a passenger in his own car; driven at the time by Alvin Erickson of Revelstoke.

Driver of the other car was Walter Reichel of Sardis.

Mr. Mackenzie, a director of Stanmack Mining Co., left Victoria for the B.C. interior June 9 to investigate a gold mine his company was interested in.

He is survived by the widow, Jean, at home; three sons, Alec, Vancouver; Kenneth, Nanaimo; and Donald, Montreal; a daughter, Betty, Calgary; one sister and two brothers.

'STILL AHEAD' U.S. CLAIMS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The chief of the federal space agency said Monday U.S. satellites have outstripped Russian efforts and laid the groundwork for a variety of benefits ranging from better television reception to possible control of the weather.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said "the genuine accomplishments of our satellites surpass those of Russia."

He said he made the assessment "unhesitatingly" from the standpoint of orbiting satellites and not merely based upon numbers. The United States has launched 26 satellites and still has 12 in orbit, two of them around the sun. Russia has launched eight vehicles and has two in orbit, one around the sun.

Broadcast Bill Passed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress voted Monday to make it possible for the Democratic and Republican presidential nominees to debate each other face to face.

The possibility, or strong probability, that Vice-President Richard Nixon and Senator John Kennedy will debate face to face on radio-TV came when congress finished action on a bill to free broadcasters of the obligation to provide equal time to all candidates.

Swan Lake Rezoning Fails by One Vote

LONDON (UPI)—Col. Kenneth Post confirmed today that Antony Armstrong-Jones is considering a $14,000-a-year job with his organization and that he might even report to the office and work from nine to five.

Post, director of the Civic Trust, an organization dedicated to the beautification of Britain's buildings and decaying streets, said Jones recently talked with Duncan Sandys, who formed the trust when he was housing minister three years ago.

"I understand Mr. Jones was very enthusiastic," said Post. "I think he would be a wonderful asset here."

The reeve told council he felt certain the company would build a service centre elsewhere in Saanich.

Voting in favor of the bylaw were Couns. Leslie Passmore, Harold Todd, Gregory Cook and George Austin.

The site in question is actually north of the CNR track, adjoining a $3,000,000 shopping centre being developed by Dominion Construction Co.

It overlooks Swan Lake to the north. Saanich plans to build its new municipal hall near the lakefront.

What Is a Liberal-Minded Canadian?

OTTAWA (CP) — Are you liberal-minded — with a small L, that is?

If so, at least three political parties are after you, each with its own idea of what you are.

Just what is this elusive "liberal-minded" person?

The phrase emerged with the advent of a new political reform party, a democratic socialist group being created by the CCF and trade unions who have set next July 31-Aug. 4 in Ottawa for a New Party founding convention.

Several weeks ago, Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson issued a call for a massive rally, January 9 to 11, in Ottawa—a rally, he made it abundantly clear, open to all liberal-minded Canadians. And that is a small "l" too, he said.

So far, Progressive Conserv-

STANLEY KNOWLES
... spelled with small "l"

atives have been quiet about people with liberal minds.

In a quick Canadian Press survey, spokesmen for all three groups were asked to define their idea of a liberal-minded person.

From left to right across the political spectrum, he's all things—a sort of red-blooded Canadian who thinks, a man of the people for the people. To the Socialists, he's left of centre. To the Liberals, he's a happy medium. To the Conservatives, he's... well, said a party spokesman, he's open-minded.

The quick survey of semantics began with Stanley Knowles, 51, a CCF pioneer, executive vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress and chairman of the national committee for the new party.

"First of all, it's spelled with a small L," said Mr. Knowles.

"He is left of centre and is prepared to work with democratic people who may be even further to the left than he is. In other words, he is prepared to work with democratic socialists to achieve social reforms."

"He believes in social and economic planning and is willing to implement such planning so that the benefits of our economy are made available to workers, farmers and all the people who produce our wealth."

Mr. Pearson was away from Ottawa on vacation, but James Moore, executive assistant at the National Liberal Federation, offered his definition:

"A liberal-minded person is dedicated to the defence of the dignity of human beings."

ALLISTER GROSART
... open mind

he said.

"The way in which he accomplishes this will depend on what specific policy will be most effective at the time. But he will always strive for that goal through justice, economic security and the freedom of individuals throughout the world."

And finally, Allister Grosart, national director of the Conservative party, was asked for his view.

"He's a person whose mind is open—open to any course of action that is in the best interests of the people of Canada."

And, by inference, Mr. Grosart suggested the present government—holding 206 of the 265 seats in the Commons—represents more "liberal-minded" people than any other party.

Tories Score Sacred Conceit

Victoria Conservatives Monday night challenged the record on which Premier Bennett is campaigning for re-election, calling it one of "arrogance, conceit and complacency."

Maj. Gen. C. A. P. Murison called for a government policy of tax reform to replace "baksheesh" handouts like the $50 homeowners' grant.

Clive Campbell attacked "blackmailing, under-the-table deals and cut-throat bidding" in the forestry industry and spelled out a Conservative forest management policy.

T. H. Cressy said "the emotional surge" which took Social Credit to power in 1952 "is now fading off."

OPENER

They were addressing an audience of 40 at War Amps' Hall for the opening of the Conservative campaign, in Victoria.

Gen. Murison said the Social Crediters have done only four things in office for which "they can be legitimately credited": "Compete the Pacific Great Eastern Railway— including the costly and unnecessary link between Squamish and North Vancouver."

"Introduce a method of borrowing under various aliases to camouflage the growth of the public debt."

"Give handouts at election times like the eastern baksheesh, only using the recipients' own money."

"Sidestepping legislation and governing by order-in-council."

"They are only interested in the things that show," he said.

"Fine roads and bridges are visible to everyone. The delay in finding money for school construction, inadequate facilities for retarded children, sick people waiting to go into hospital—they don't show."

The $50 grant shows, but not the overtaxing required to produce it, he said.

Gen. Murison dismissed the CCF policy as trying to create of industry "wards of the state" watched over by bureaucratic baby-sitters.

VOLCANIC ASH BLOTS OUT SUN IN ALASKA

KODIAK, Alaska (AP) — Clouds of volcanic ash blotted out the sun over an area of 50 square miles Monday, following eruption of a volcano on the Alaska Peninsula.

The eruption was in the Katmai national monument area, where Mt. Trident, one of a number of active volcanoes in the Valley of 10,000 Smokes, erupted last week.

The most recent eruption was believed to be Mt. Martin, a 6,100-foot volcano south of Mt. Trident.

A Coast Guard plane was dispatched to investigate.

Clouds of ash and smoke at least 30,000 feet high were reported by an airlines pilot, Gil Jarvella. He said the ashes were dropping on the U.S. naval base at Kodiak.

Saanich Shopping Centre Start Planned for Sept. 6

Construction will start on the first phase of a $3,000,000 integrated shopping centre in Saanich in September.

R. G. Bentall, vice-president of Dominion Construction Co., developers of the 13-acre commercial site immediately north of the Douglas Street-Trans-Canada Highway intersection, said today work on the project will start on Sept. 6.

Cost of the commercial development to be further expanded within the next few years, will be over $1,000,000. It will be completed by next spring.

The shopping centre as a start will consist of 30 shops. "We will start building next month an integrated shopping centre of 100,000 square feet, twice as large as we originally planned for the first stage of our commercial development," Mr. Bentall said.

He was confident that in two years' time conditions will be such to permit a further expansion of the shopping centre.

"We feel that the site will become a key commercial centre for south Vancouver Island," he said.

Tenants at the centre will include a Woolworth store, Safeway food market, a 24-lane bowling alley, a large de luxe ice cream parlor, a hardware and bakery.

Other stores will consist of smaller units, such as a drug store, offices, sporting goods, shoe and ladies' wear.

BIRTH EXPLOSION BRINGING CRISIS

If all the merchant ships in the world were taken off their regular routes and chartered to move the Chinese from their homeland, they'd never keep up with the birth rate.

Dr. Hugh Borsman, prominent local obstetrician, told Victoria Gyros this Tuesday when he spoke on the world's present and future population crisis.

If a full scale public health program were introduced in China the population would increase by more than 50 millions a year, he said.

He described as "optimists" the people who felt the problem would take care of itself. At the present rate the world's population within the next 40 years would increase to six or seven billion.

Some form of birth control was necessary but it would have to conform with moral and religious principles.

Countries like India, China and Africa could not be told to limit their populations—but

Who Are the Customers?

MR. KIERNAN'S LATEST ATTEMPT to explain the Wenner-Gren power scheme on the Peace River gives it a final note of confusion. But that probably suits the provincial Government when it hopes to get elected without explaining its major policies.

The Peace River promoters, says Mr. Kiernan, are getting no concessions from the Government, not a nickel—not even a customer for their power. "Power development," he adds, "generally has to precede the industrial use of it. Then you can go looking for a customer."

Does Mr. Kiernan expect anyone to believe that over half a billion dollars will be invested by private interests in the Peace scheme unless it has the assurance of customers in advance? Does he suppose that investors are that crazy?

He may, but the promoters don't. They have said plainly that they must line up power contracts in metropolitan Vancouver, or in the Northwest States, or both, before they can finance their scheme.

Since long-standing federal policy forbids power exports, the promoters are seeking the Vancouver market. They want the B.C. Electric, which serves that market, to contract for the purchase of Peace River power at prices far higher than those available from the downstream benefits of the Columbia. They also hope to sell power to the B.C. Power Commission.

Up to now the B.C. Electric and the Power Commission have not been foolish and imprudent enough to buy Peace River power in advance when they have every reason to believe that cheaper power will be available from the Columbia. They have every reason to believe that because the Canadian Government announced in Parliament a few days ago that a Columbia River agreement between Canada and the United States would be signed in the near future.

Once these arrangements are complete the exploitation of the Columbia can go ahead as a publicly-owned enterprise which, unlike the Peace scheme, does not need to attract private investors or to sign power contracts in advance. Actually the sale of the Columbia downstream, power is assured anyway because it will be some of the cheapest power in America—probably something like 4 mills delivered in Vancouver as against the existing rate of about 6 mills there.

The Columbia power will supply British Columbia's needs for many years to come. Where, then, is Peace power to be sold? Obviously the promoters hope to sell it in the United States. But if the federal Government is prepared to reverse its policy and allow power exports there, has been no indication of such a change in Ottawa so far.

However that may be, the people of British Columbia will never forgive the provincial Government, the B.C. Electric or the Power Commission if they commit this province to relatively high-cost Peace power when cheap power is available from the Columbia.

If this is what Mr. Kiernan has in mind he should be more candid with the public. When he talks about mysterious customers for Peace power the public should make sure that they don't turn out to be the industries and households of British Columbia.

Meanwhile the public would appreciate an assurance from the B.C. Electric and the Power Commission that they are not signing high-cost power contracts in advance for the electoral convenience of the Government.

Joint Action in the Americas

THE ACTION OF THE ORGANIZATION of American States in condemning the Dominican Republic as an aggressor has wider significance than the immediate effect of boycotts and embargoes. It provides obvious evidence that the United States and the Latin American countries are capable of joint action to achieve a common end. Last week's resolution marks an important step forward in the development of the OAS.

The members of the OAS have agreed to impose a diplomatic boycott, an arms embargo and possibly economic sanctions against the Dominican Republic. The unanimity of the move amongst the 20-nation organization is proof that it could become one of the effective regional groupings in world affairs with a very important future.

The OAS development also indicates a new role for the United States. Where once the major western hemispheric power acted independently in events affecting the Americas, today it participates in joint action by all the states involved. Much as the United States might like to act in Cuba, for instance, it cannot afford to affront the Latin American countries by a show of unilateral power.

Signs and Portents

FEW FACTORS AFFECT THE appearance of a city more than its commercial signs, and few communities have done much to direct and control a proper use of this medium. Those which have, achieve a cleaner, brighter look, a vast improvement of the environment as a pleasant place in which to live, and ultimately the admiration of even those who at first opposed any change.

Victoria now stands at the crossroads, and it will depend on the interest displayed by the public which direction is to be taken.

For some time city authorities have been trying to win agreement to certain measures which would exert more control over the size, placement and use of commercial signs. Examples of good practice and examples of bad practice have been displayed, and to most persons the choice seems obvious.

But pressure from the sign industry has resulted in a whittling away of most of the improvements that had been put into proposed legislation. Two draft bylaws have been drawn up and drastically altered, and now a third is under consideration. The latter has lost many of the clauses which would have resulted in reform, but authorities can do little unless there is public backing for their efforts.

A public meeting is to be held in the City Council chambers on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at which the bylaw will be thoroughly discussed. Now is the chance for all interested to speak up for a better-looking city. It will be too late if the bylaw is passed in its present state.

Carrot and Stick

THE TEN-YEAR SENTENCE passed by a Soviet court on the United States pilot, Gary Powers, for his now-famous espionage flight, has been widely appraised as a fair one. He could hardly have expected less, under the circumstances, and might have received much more.

The judgment and sentence—indeed, the entire court proceedings—have been viewed in the West as mainly of propaganda value. It may be taken for granted that, whatever control the court may have had of the details of the trial, the general policy on which it was conducted was laid down by the Kremlin. This was what TV producers would call a "spectacular" and the Soviet Government staged it with a full appreciation of the world audience and the benefits to be derived.

If the intention was to impress many nations with a show of Russian responsibility, restraint, leniency and humanity the proceedings may well have been successful. In this light, the case appears as part of Mr. Khrushchev's efforts to encourage confidence in Russia's actions on other matters.

But Mr. Powers' reasonable sentence of three years in prison and another seven in less restricted confinement does not entirely remove the bite from Soviet threats to bomb American air bases in European countries, or the impact of other blunt warnings that seem designed to rattle the nuclear rockets on their launching pads.

"Don't think your Government has forgotten you up here in Fort St. Cecil... You have a right to bridges just like all the rest of the province... We're going to GIVE you a bridge, my friends... and a nice river to put under it..."

Heritage From the Days of Frontiersman

THE Medicine Tree of the western prairies grew just outside the fabled town of High River and was growing there long before the first white men trailed their cattle across the boundary into Alberta on the Whoop-Up Trail from Fort Benton.

Actually, as I saw it a few years ago, it was two ordinary cottonwood trees but since a branch of one had grown into the trunk of the other to create a single organism and sapstream, the Medicine Tree was worshipped as a miracle by the whole Blackfoot confederacy, the Stoney and any other Indian bands hunting the numberless Buffalo of the Highwood Valley.

Offerings to the Great Spirit were laid beside the twin trunks, the ground about them was tramped bare by Indian encampments and the shrewd whisky traders from the States built their fort nearby, knowing it would be safe in these sacred surroundings.

TWO years ago the double tree fell in a windstorm and a part of its skeleton has been set up in High River's pleasant little park, a memorial to George Lane, that legendary giant of the foothills. The people of the Highwood country were not satisfied, however, with this tribute to one of the liveliest chapters of western history.

Recently the High River Pioneers' and Old Timers' Association has published a lovely book, "Leaves From the Medicine Tree," which must be unique in Canadian literature.

It does not attempt literary flourishes; it is written in a simple style like an evening tale told in a ranch kitchen, but of its kind it is a true masterpiece. One doubts that any other region of Canada has ever left such a complete record of its past, such a testament to a splendid adventure.

AND what an adventure! From the middle of the 18th century, when Anthony Henday first met the Blackfoot, until the 20th, when Bob Edwards printed the first of his several Eye Openers in High River, that curious conclave of prairie, foothills and mountain, a green, fertile demiparadise some 50 miles southwest of Calgary, has bred a separate Canadian type, almost a species, certainly a like unknown in any other part of Canada.

The whisky traders, Sitting Bull's exiles from the massacre of the Little Big Horn, the handful of Mounted Police ruling thousands of restless natives, the northward trek of beef herds, the open range free to all, the two annual round-ups organized like a military campaign to load a hundred thousand head of cattle on the first railway cars, then the last of the buffalo, the arrival of the homesteaders, the spread of barbed wire and irrigation ditches, the discovery of oil in Turner Valley—all this transformed southern Alberta from barbarism to civilization in less than a hundred years.

BUT it never quite changed the distinct character of the Highwood folk and they decided to write down their testament while the last of the old timers was present with his memories.

"Uncle" Billy Henry came out from Scotland as a boy, rode in the round-ups (sometimes a hundred miles in a day), managed some of Pat Burns' huge herds, trailed cattle to the Yukon gold rush and, when I last saw him in High River, was still a wonderfully alert, cheerful little man, made of rawhide.

Without his recollections of the great days—the present record could hardly have been written, but to them the sedulous amateur historians have added the genealogy of every family living around the Highwood up to 1900—a work of research probably without any exact Canadian parallel.

Its beginnings, I suspect, were revealed in confidence to me some years ago in a cabin glued to the first ramparts of the Rockies where they erupt, perpendicular, from the foothills.

Bert Sheppard, whom Billy Henry calls the last of the true cowmen, had written down the chronicle of his own ranches and the giants of his boyhood. This material and 500 pages of humble history are incorporated in the work of the Old Timers' Association to make a saga more unlikely and interesting than fiction.

THESE unvarnished annals of blizzard, drought, plague, violent death and unconscious heroism tell the story of the Highwood people in a book superbly printed and lavishly illustrated by The Lethbridge Herald (in itself an improbable work of publication).

But the important thing is that one region of Canada has rescued for our national history those human legends, local myths and unsung heroes that make the essential inward stuff of any nation, the lore and family secrets of a people.

No student of the west can afford to overlook this book and every other storied region, where our joint character has been built as it were of native bricks, should imitate it.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Residents Only

Last Thursday, under the byline, "Ask the Times," the following question and answer were given:

"Q. To be eligible to receive the $50 (tax) (homeowners) grant from the provincial government, must the owner reside on the property? J. H.

"A. No."

The answer to this question is not correct.

The individual assessed owner of an "eligible residence" must be "ordinarily resident therein" and complete the application form on the reverse of the taxation notice where he certifies, "I am residing therein" (see Section 9 (1) and 55 of the Provincial Homeowner Grant Act).

Under the statutory provisions and regulations, there can be no doubt that the owner of an eligible residence, or the occupant of an eligible apartment residence, must be in residence at the time that the application for the provincial homeowner grant is made.

W. F. VEITCH,
Ass. Deputy Minister of Finance.

Let's Sign a Petition

In a recent letter to the Times, Mr. Brian M. Paine asks who were the local residents opposed to the LCB out let in the Shelbourne Plaza. I cannot supply him with this information as I am equally in the dark as to their identity. But possibly I can throw some light on the matter.

My interest rests in the fact that I own the property immediately to the south on Shelbourne Street, and reside in the first house to the east of the new shopping centre stores, on Pear Street. As it happens I am entirely in favour of a government liquor store at this location.

No doubt there were some residents who expressed disfavor directly by phone or letter. But there was at least one petition being circulated in this neighborhood. To my knowledge this was the third negative petition in this area within the past six months. The first was in opposition to a rezoning application of mine. The second was to object to a certain illuminated sign. And now this one. Possibly there were others that escaped my notice. Like Canadian postage stamps, local negative petitions are issued every few months, primarily for the amusement of the collectors.

In view of the number of petitions circulated in this district, against almost everything imaginable, it appears the LCB has placed far too much emphasis on the results of this latest and rather lopsided effort. I suggest that anyone in favor of a liquor store in the Shelbourne Plaza should register his wishes just as emphatically as did the ever-present negatives.

PAUL H. D. PARIZEAU,
1686 Pear St.

Liquor Education

Among the many changes during the few years the present B.C. Government has been in power is the increase in facilities for procuring and partaking of alcoholic drinks, which has resulted in increasing the government's revenue by several million dollars. But the profits given as accruing are no profits at all when set against increased police, court, and prison expenses, dangers on the roads, broken homes and ruined lives.

How out of place in this 20th century and in progressive Canada, with all the medical knowledge at hand, that we have failed to profit from the experiences of the past and that this evil habit is actually licensed and encouraged by the government, which should be an example and father to the people.

Facing this question at the beginning of its career the present government appointed a liquor commission and the people by a majority expressed themselves as favoring beer and wines being sold in hotels, restaurants, etc. The government fell in line. Not only does the individual's indulgence in it spring from a perverted appetite and following customs of the past, but its continuance is actively promoted by the powerful, wealthy, organized liquor interests, breweries, distilleries, etc., and their agents, who spend large sums in advertising their wares and these are increasing of late in the daily press.

Liquor drinking is increasing in Victoria and is quite common among women and youths.

The political party which is truly working for the good of the people in this fair province of B.C. should be active in educating the people as to the evil effects of this habit, and do their best to oppose its presence.

R. E. ROBINSON.

WASHINGTON:

Choosing Targets

By MAX FREEDMAN

A MAJOR decision has just been taken by the Secretary of Defence which casts an astonishing and indeed frightening light on American foreign policy. It will be recalled that the late John Foster Dulles, when Secretary of State, laid it down as the central principle of American policy that the United States would rely on "massive retaliation," at places of its own choosing, as a restraint upon or punishment of any aggressor.

Max Freedman

When this doctrine first was proclaimed it was challenged by many people on the ground that it virtually excluded the possibility of a local conflict and threatened mankind with general nuclear war.

The most effective criticism was made by Mr. L. B. Pearson in a speech before the National Press Club in Washington when he analyzed Mr. Dulles' statement to show that it carried the most serious implications for the NATO Allies.

He made the basic point that it was intolerable to have the American Government decide by itself what places should be attacked when the consequences of this decision would fall on many other countries. He therefore argued that there was an obligation on the United States to consult its principal allies, above all the Council of NATO, before the doctrine of retaliation was put into operation.

At a later press conference Mr. Dulles said that Mr. Pearson's views were entitled to great respect. He explained that he had never intended to rule out co-operation and consultation with the Allies.

Greatest Sanctions

But he insisted that any aggressor state could no longer expect to limit the area of hostilities or the weapons used. The two greatest sanctions for peace, he said, were the certainty that the aggressor would be resisted by the United States and might have to deal with American nuclear power in its own territory.

Even this explanation, though it lessened anxiety, failed to end the criticism.

Still unanswered was Mr. Pearson's point that the doctrine of choosing the places for retaliation might mean that the United States might decide to bomb China to save Quemoy and Matsu.

Mr. Dulles then said, both in speeches and articles, that atomic power would be used as a policy of last resort and that the United States in general would try to make its retaliation bear a rough relationship to the amount of provocation and injury suffered by the aggressive act.

Central to the whole doctrine of massive retaliation—even when it in fact was not so massive—was Mr. Dulles' continued insistence that the aggressor could not expect immunity from atomic reprisals.

Now examine that doctrine in the light of the recent decision in the department.

After a year's study, Mr. Gates, the Secretary of Defence, in what he has described as the most important decision since he entered the department in 1953, has established a new strategic planning group to determine what enemy targets will be subject to attack in the event of war. Quite plainly the targets under study will be in Russia and China.

Harmful Rivalry

Continued rivalries between the services have prevented the planning from being as effective as it should be. Mr. Gates admitted that fact by discarding the old system and establishing the new planning group under General Powers of Omaha, Nebraska.

This group will have two main functions.

In the first place it will have the task of recommending the enemy targets that should be subjected to attack once the United States or its Allies have been assaulted. Secondly it will have the duty of recommending the service which will carry out the attack on the enemy targets.

All this planning must be done in advance since there will be only some fifteen minutes warning in an atomic attack. The program of retaliation must be ready to be put into instant operation the moment the first enemy blow is struck.

Mr. Gates explained that the planning group under General Powers, who also is head of the Strategic Air Command, will have no authority to make final decisions on national policy. It will merely make recommendations to the joint chiefs of staff who in turn will be able to accept or revise the suggested list of targets.

Consultation

Before the planning group hands in its recommendations to the joint chiefs it will, as a matter of fixed and important procedure, consult all the interested Allies involved in the decision or concerned with it. Thus Mr. Pearson's principle of consultation is endorsed.

American reporters have been writing about this decision as if it involved no more than another rather tedious quarrel between the Navy and the Air Force over primary authority in the use of new weapons. They have failed to see the implications of this decision in terms of foreign policy.

For it means that although Mr. Dulles years ago talked of massive retaliation in places of our own choosing, those places in fact have yet to be selected with full precision and responsibility.

We have had, in short, all the disastrous consequences of Mr. Dulles' pugnacious rhetoric without the protection of a mature defence policy that would make a policy of retaliation effective in practice.

This certainly is a queer way to conduct foreign policy.

Do They Want What We Have?

IT'S PRETTY HARD to think of the beating Canadian signalmen took in the Congo last week without being emotional.

Our boys were in there to help the United Nations restore order. They had no axe to grind. And the people they went to help—or a group of them—yanked the signalmen out of a plane, knocked them down and put their feet and rifle butts to them.

"Who," you want to know, "do these punks think they are? If this is the way they treat our people, let's pull out and let the guys fry."

That's a reasonably understandable reaction. You can't help feeling indignant. Yet, in a civilized society, do you walk out on a badly behaved child because, being a child without adequate training, he misbehaves?

Maybe you do. Maybe you have come to the conclusion that people have to learn by experience. It may be blessed to be peace-makers, you reason, but it's not worthwhile taking the lumps inflicted on you by becoming the man in the middle. Anyhow, you may argue, the Congolese will have to work out their own salvation.

There's a joker, though, in that last assumption. The people of the Congo aren't going to be allowed to work out their own salvation independently. It's pretty obvious that if we don't or can't help them, another ideology will move in and shape the Congo's future with something less than the admirable forbearance of the signalmen who were beaten last week.

So, in the spirit of high altruism expressed by Mr. Howard Green, we'll stick around and try to be of assistance to people emerging into the 20th century world, strong in the belief that they will aspire to the type of society we have created.

You may wonder, though, if that's the kind of society they want. We can assist them to what we consider a higher state of civilization. We can offer them a form of life which gives them education as we know it, a type of security which looks after the individual—even if a slight miscalculation by "civilized" fingers which have access to a nuclear trigger may eliminate security for everyone.

We can teach them to live longer, and perhaps develop a philosophy of age which we haven't quite mastered ourselves. We can instruct them in ethics which we have developed over centuries—and have occasion to question periodically.

We can help to bring them along to the miracles of mechanization. We can give them television, central heating—or air-conditioning—plumbing, automobiles and ultimately, traffic jams. We can offer them the good life as we see it.

All this we can do with the highest motives. Yet sometimes we look at our own natives and find, to our dismay, that they frequently don't want to become full Canadian citizens with the benefits, rights and responsibilities which that citizenship entails. They'd rather be Indians.

The peoples of the Congo, as far as the news stories of recent date suggest, haven't taken quite that attitude. They seem ready enough to accept the material things our so-called civilized society can give them and they still seem to be shouting "liberation" and "independence" without too complete an understanding of the definitions. But whether they want our style of life, our type of democracy, isn't very clear.

Were it not for the grim, explosive potentialities of the Congo, the situation there might invite a comparison close to home.

A few years ago an intelligent, educated and cultured lady in a district of Vancouver undertook supervision of a group of rambunctious boys during their play time. The loudest youngster in the crowd kept yelling for a game of "Cops and Robbers." The lady supervisor thought there ought to be a more useful, constructive way in which to channel the kids' leisure.

She suggested a refined and educational game, described it in glowing terms and figured she had converted the growl to her way of thinking.

"Now," she asked, "what do you want to play?"

And the answer came back, "Cops and Robbers."

LUMUMBA WOULDN'T HAVE TO GO FAR FOR HELP

Communists 'Rush' Leopoldville

By LYNN HEINZERLING

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—Communists and "anti-imperialists" of uncertain doctrinal background are pouring into Leopoldville.

Soviet Ambassador M. D. Yakolev has rented an embassy on a street named after the hated Belgian colonialist Leopold II. It is only a short distance from the Czech embassy, which has been in business here as a consulate for months.

If Premier Patrice Lumumba, as he threatens, turns to one of the Communist states for "disinterested assistance," he won't have to turn very far.

The premier's written statements, correspondence, and radio orations have acquired a polished French flavor unusual in a nation with 16 college graduates, only one of whom is in Lumumba's cabinet.

MANY RED REPORTERS Most revealing of all, correspondents for Soviet and other Communist journals have turned up in surprising numbers as though an event of unusual importance to their readers is expected. There is even a correspondent from the Soviet literary publication, Literary Gazette.

"One of the new journalistic arrivals has been showing around a booklet entitled 'Hands off the Congo.' It presumably is being distributed among the Congolese population, about 20 per cent of whom can read. It contains most of Nikita Khrushchev's speeches concerning the Congo, up to and including one on Aug. 8.

Monday, 25 Czechs arrived. They were described as "ambassy staff." The Czechs were said to be ready to supply the Congo with hundreds of French-speaking teachers. It requires to open the schools next month.

A prominent figure in Lumumba's entourage is Mrs. Andre Bidun, who was expelled from the Congo by Belgian authorities, before independence, for her left-wing activities. She is chief of protocol and takes a hand in writing scripts with a distinct anti-Western bias for the Congolese radio.

Appearance Shows Growth

The beginning gardener who has been trying his luck with cuttings of favorite plants will find that some kinds have already rooted.

There are some folks who ask "How do you know when cuttings are rooted?" Usually there is no doubt about it. You can tell by the healthy growing appearance.

However, to be sure without disturbing the cuttings or the new roots, first water the pot of cuttings thoroughly and allow the excess water to drain out.

Then invert the pot carefully over the left hand, keeping the soil ball intact and the cuttings in place with the fingers. Lift off the pot with the right hand, and look for fine, usually white, roots just beginning to show in the soil which was against the pot. If roots are visible, the cuttings may be potted singly in small pots, or if hardy enough, set outdoors into the garden soil.

If no roots are seen, place the pot back over the soil ball, and turn right side up again. Give the pot one sharp tap on a firm surface to settle the soil and put it away again for another week or so.

Should the cuttings have been inserted into a flat, or into a cold frame for rooting, take a narrow-bladed trowel and dig up the most likely looking cutting and inspect for roots. If they are about a quarter of an inch long, the cutting is ready for potting or setting out into the garden. The potting of rooted cuttings requires a certain amount of care, especially at this time of the year. There is only a short growing period ahead for most things, so that two-and-a-half or three-inch pots are plenty large enough for all small cuttings.

The soil mixture should be kept fairly open with coarse sand, and fertilizer omitted for all plants except those which will normally make growth during the cooler, shorter days.

The drainage holes in some clay pots are too small, quite inadequate when an average garden soil is used in the potting mixture.

The size of the holes can be increased by reaming out with a three-cornered file or chipping around with a small tack hammer.

A piece of broken pot is inverted over the enlarged hole to prevent blocking with soil.

Why Red Army In Hungary? U.S. Asks UN UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States Sunday asked the UN General Assembly to re-open its inquiry into Soviet intervention in Hungary in 1956 and the continued presence of Soviet troops in Hungary.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. delegation chief, put in the request in a letter to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, the U.S. mission said. The move was announced several hours after the Soviet government demanded the assembly session, beginning Sept. 20, discuss what it called "the aggressive actions of the U.S.A. against the Soviet Union."

The U.S. request noted that the General Assembly last year asked Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand to keep trying to get some statement from both the Soviet Union and Hungary about the events of 1956 and the problem of getting Soviet troops out of Hungary. Munro last April reported at Geneva the two Communist countries had ignored his request.

SPORTS SHORTS

Seattle in Series

SEATTLE (AP)—Seattle defeated Portland 5-1 Monday to win the Connie Mack regional baseball tournament, and a berth in the "World Series," which begins Thursday in St. Joseph, Mo.

Productive Weekend
BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—A 19-under-par 269 over 72 holes gave Bill Johnston of Provo, Utah, top prize money of $1,500 in Montana's Open golf meet at the weekend. Veteran Dutch Harrison, 19-year-old Bill Wright of Edmonton and Joe Greer of Yakima tied for second at 276.

12th Straight Win

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—U.S. tennis players continued their domination of the Gordon Trophy competition for seniors by defeating Canada 11-1 at the end. It was the 12th straight win for the U.S.

Yanks Buy Long

WASHINGTON (AP)—New York Yankees of the American League have purchased first baseman Dale Long from San Francisco Giants. Long, 34, will dress for tonight's game with Chicago White Sox.

Started Strongly

VANDALIA, Ohio (CP)—Ross F. McKay of Calgary was one of nine men who shot perfect scores Monday in a 100-target event for state champions at the opening of the 61st Grand American trapshoot. McKay was later eliminated in a shootoff.

Rubber Match Set

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—Plans for a third "rubber match" between middleweights Gene Fullmer and Ray Robinson—set to be held Oct. 8 in Los Angeles—were tentatively settled Monday.

Packard in High Gear

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Jim Packard, Speedway, Ind., won the 100-mile U.S. Auto Club championship race Saturday before a capacity crowd of 35,000, lapping all of the 18 starters except second-place finisher Eddie Sachs.

Big Guns Hit Hard In Series

Between Dennis Sproule and Bob Handyside, Victoria City didn't have much of a chance in its battle for the Greater Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association midget division championship.

Sproule scored six goals and Handyside potted five as the Saanich Farmers thumped City, 17-2, at Stevenson Park Monday to win the best-of-five series, 3-1.

Kelly Jones and Allan Mottishaw had to work overtime for City in the best-of-five fly-weight final against Saanich.

City won that one, 10-3, to give them a 3-1 series win as Jones and Mottishaw each scored five goals.

All-Stars Hoping To Visit Britain

Canada's touring soccer team, which leaves next month for a four-week tour of Russia, may play two games in Britain if current plans materialize.

Proposed games in Britain are against England's West Bromwich Albion and Scotland's Heart of Midlothian.

ENGLAND'S TURN

ROME (AP)—The International Football Association has decided to hold the 1966 World Cup soccer tournament in England.

OOPS!

Brawling Billy Faces Million-Dollar Suit

CHICAGO (AP)

Brawling Billy Martin, the scrappy Cincinnati second baseman who was sued for $1,040,000 Monday by the Chicago Cubs and rookie pitcher Jim Brewer, may be contemplating a counter-suit.

Martin indicated there was the possibility of a counter-suit after he was served with a notice shortly before Monday's game between the Redlegs and the Cubs at Wrigley Field, which Chicago won, 6-13.

The action stems from a brawl Aug. 4 in which Martin slugged Brewer, charging that the Cub pitcher was throwing at his head.

The Cubs and Brewer, who was finally released from hospital Monday, are asking $260,000 each in actual damages and an additional $260,000 each in punitive damages.

CAN'T PLAY THIS YEAR

Brewer, 22, has had two operations involving the orbital bone of his right eye. Physicians have warned him that he cannot play again this year.

Martin's first remark after being served with the notice was: "I wonder if they want this in cash or by cheque?"

Later he indicated the possibility of a counter-suit, claiming that Brewer and the Cubs had endangered his career "because Brewer was throwing at my head. I have no doubt of that."

Following the battle, Martin was suspended five days and fined $500 by National League president Warren Giles.

Martin was booed vigorously by the 6,435 fans every time he went to bat Monday, and fans in the bleachers raised a banner which read: "Kill Martin."

Ron Santo and Don Zimmer combined to drive in five runs for Chicago's victory. Three runs were unearned as Red Sox's stop Leo Cardenas dropped an attempted double play throw and left fielder Frank Robinson fumbled Santo's single in a four-run first inning.

In the day's only other game, Norm Larker hit three singles, drove in three runs and fanned his league batting average to .349 as Los Angeles defeated San Francisco 8-5 before 37,061 fans.

Gil Hodges accounted for another of the Dodger runs with his 352nd major league homer—a blow that made him the most prolific right-handed home run hitter in National League history. He had been tied with Ralph Kiner.

VETERAN RELEASED

TORONTO (CP)—Pete Bennett, an 11-year veteran with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four football league, has been released by coach Lou Agase.

COWICHAN DERBY

Had to Be Good One To Earn Ladder Run

COWICHAN BAY—Although fishing appeared slower this year than last, it still took a good-sized salmon—19 pounds 12 ounces—to qualify for the Cowichan Bay Salmon Club's annual derby fish-off next Sunday.

The club's six-week qualifying ladder derby ended Saturday with all 50 rungs taken.

The top rung was held by Dick James, of Victoria, with a 37-pound spring. Sid Harknett, of Duncan, and R. J. Caldwell, of Victoria, took the last two qualifying spots with identical 19.12 catches.

Qualifiers fish off Sunday

Vancouver Side Claims Kyle Cup

Victoria's under-15 cricket team went down to defeat 115-52 at the hands of a Vancouver squad Sunday at Beacon Hill Park.

Vancouver regained the Jack Kyle Cup which it has now won twice in the four years since it was donated.

12 TEAMS NOW

At the close of the current boxla playoffs.

All of last season's teams are back in the league and most have started workouts. Choice of teams to play in the opening games Sept. 10 at Athletic Park will be made by the league executive at a meeting over the weekend.

Last-Half Kick Throws Cowboys

Lions Win Again; Eskimos Defeat Roughriders 19-1

It won't stop the fans from squirming, but it looks like B.C. Lions are ready to build up a reputation as a team with a second-half kick.

The West Coast entry pulled away with 13 points in the second half to defeat Saskatchewan Roughriders 27-12 Saturday night for the Lions' first victory of the Western Interprovincial Football Union season.

They did it again Monday night, but in slightly more dramatic fashion. Trailing 19-6 in the third quarter, Lions exploded for 20 points to down Calgary's winlessStampeders 26-19.

ESKIS CONNECT

At Edmonton, Saskatchewan suffered its second straight setback, losing 19-1 to the Eskimos.

B.C. touchdowns were counted by Willie Fleming, with two, Vern Lofstrom and Jimmy Jones. Vic Kristopaitis converted twice.

Calgary's two touchdowns came from Gene Filipski and Willie Barber. Doug Brown converted both and added a field goal. The other Stampeders points came from a rouge and a kick to the dead line.

JETER HURT

Two leg injuries late in the game left B.C. without half-back Bob Jeter and Calgary without quarterback Joe Kapp. Both suffered knee bruises.

Neither injury was serious but both watched the remainder of the game from the bench.

British Columbia had 20 first downs compared with Stampeders' 19. Lions had a wide margin in yards gained rushing 332 to 87 but in yards gained passing Calgary had the advantage 179 to 104.

Calgary completed 12 of 26 forward attempts and intercepted two of Lions' attempted forwards. British Columbia completed five of 14 tries and made no interceptions.

At Edmonton, before 17,000 fans, Rolfe Miles, Johnny Bright and Howie Schumm scored touchdowns for Eskimos. Quarterback Jackie Parker was successful on one conversion in three tries.

Saskatchewan's lone point came when Miles was trapped on Len King's punt.

TWO ESKIMOS HURT

The Edmonton win may prove costly. Vic Chapman, who plays end and kicks, was helped from the field with a suspected pulled muscle and guard Ted Tully went to the dressing room with a cut face.

Eskimos got a big break midway through the third quarter when Schumm, a Canadian backfielder, picked up a Rider fumble and ran 53 yards for a touchdown.

Edmonton had a bit the better of Saskatchewan in the statistics department. Eskimos had 17 first downs compared with Riders' 11, gained 147 yards rushing against Saskatchewan's 101 and advanced 198 yards in the air while allowing Riders 113.

In the aerial battle between Jackie Parker and Don Getty of Edmonton and Bob Placek of Saskatchewan, Edmonton again had a slight edge, completing 11 of 19 attempts compared with Placek's seven of 18.

SOOKE AHEAD 3-0

Now or Never For Farmers

Farmer Construction will attempt to stall off destruction tonight when the Farmers meet Gorge Hotel in the fourth game of the best-of-seven city senior "A" softball final at Central Park at 6 p.m.

Gorge leads the series, 3-0. In Monday's senior "B" action, Sooke Building grabbed a 3-0 lead in its best-of-seven final with Tudor House by whomping the Pubmen, 13-2. Sooke can wrap it all up Thursday night.

Glen Bullen fired a four-hitter but admittedly he didn't have too much resistance. The first man he faced, Bill Budge, teed off for a home run but it was pretty well a dying gasp as well as opening blast. Bill Richardson also scored on a walk, single, error and fielder's choice and then that was all for Tudors.

The Heywood Avenue senior "B" semifinal wends slowly on and on. Morrison Motors grabbed a 2-1 lead in the marathon best-of-five set by beating Chinese Students, 9-2. Seven eighth-inning runs broke open the contest.

ton Oval Monday in preparation for their game Wednesday night against British Columbia All-Stars and will be out to regain some of their lost prestige by defeating the B.C. team, which is considered one of the top sides in Canada.

Jack Spry, who will manage the B.C. squad, had his own ideas about the training schedule and the upcoming game. "Make no mistake," said Spry. "It's going to be nothing like Calgary. We watched them at practice and were amazed with the accuracy and power of their shooting on goal."

"None of that came out in the Calgary game, mainly because of the conditions, but if they ever get anywhere near our goal, brother, look out."

Tickets for the game are not available in Victoria but can be reserved by contacting Hicks ticket bureau, 610 Dunsmuir Street, Vancouver. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

Great Opening Stand Spoils Africans' Bid

LONDON (Reuters)—A morale-shattering opening partnership of 290 by Geoff Pullar (175) and Colin Cowdrey (115) checked South African hopes of their only victory in the series on the fourth day of the fifth cricket Test yesterday.

With one day left for play, England led by 116 runs with six second-innings wickets in hand. At the close they were 380 for four, having scored 155 in their first innings, to which South Africa replied with 419.

South Africa lost the first three Tests and drew the fourth.

Cowdrey and Pullar's 260-minute stand was the best first-wicket partnership by an England pair in England since the war, beating the 212 by Reg Simpson and Cyril Washbrook against the West Indies in 1950.

Other close-of-play scores:

At Cheltenham: Kent 248 and 19 for no wicket; Gloucestershire 140.
At Eastbourne: Sussex 308 for 9 declared and 22 for no wicket; Essex 162 for 7 declared.
At Lord's: Scotland 285; MCC 180.
At Southampton: Nottinghamshire 264; Lancashire 51 and 241 for 6.

AMATEUR TOPS FIELD

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Bruce Devlin, 22-year-old Australian scored 69-69-75-282 to win the Australian open golf championship Saturday, marking the first victory by an amateur since 1939.

Florida Boat Tops Marathon

SEATTLE (AP)—Chuck Mersereau, of Kissimmee, Fla., who ran into a rock the first day out, Monday won the 737-mile Ketchikan Alaska-to-Seattle outboard motorboat marathon.

Mersereau and his navigator-mechanic, Stan Groff, edged George Thompson, Schenectady, N.Y., by 11 minutes, with a total elapsed time of 18 hours, 44 minutes and 45 seconds.

Only seven of the 18-foot vessels which started the race on Thursday were able to finish.

The Victoria and District Soccer League will have an extra team in the coming season and further development is being considered.

Moving Tee Doesn't Straighten Drives

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—A New Zealand widow has won a case against a golf club after complaining that 437 golf balls strayed into her property in two years.

Mrs. Ilma Oakley-Timmins brought a suit for damages against the Paraparamu Beach Golf Club, a leading golf course near Wellington, claiming $280 general damages and $30 special damages. She also sought an injunction restraining club members from hitting balls into her property.

A suitcase containing 437 golf balls, which Mrs. Oakley-Timmins said she had collected from her property was the major exhibit in a hearing extending over several days. But later in the case, after a three-week adjournment, she produced a travelling bag containing 73 more balls which she had found since the hearing began.

Mrs. Oakley-Timmins claimed that golf balls had broken many windows in her house and the glass of the conservatory.

On one occasion when she had visitors, 12 balls landed in an hour and a half. Once a ball smashed a plate-glass window, showering her with splinters.

The golf club said it had moved the ninth tee four times in efforts to abate the nuisance. Members described visiting Mrs. Oakley-Timmins' house to ask for the return of their balls, but said they were confiscated.

Club officials who kept watch at the ninth tee after the opening of the case agreed that they had seen balls cross the fence. One landed not far from Mrs. Oakley-Timmins in person.

After examining the ninth hole the presiding magistrate held that the plaintiff had made a case for damages and an injunction.

Following consultations between the parties, the club agreed to reduce the ninth hole to a temporary one-shot hole, except that permission be given for the full-length hole to be used for two special tournaments. Later a new fairway will be constructed which should eliminate the possibility of balls crossing into Mrs. Oakley-Timmins' property.

Tee Topics

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Folks who don't mind the ferry run—and are interested—get two good chances to catch the touring golf professionals in action next month.

Seattle hosts the touring pros for the first time since 1945 with a $25,000 tournament at the Broadmoor course. Also on tap is another $25,000 open event at Fircrest, near Tacoma, September 15 to 18.

And if you don't care for the ferry trip, the interesting exhibition at Victoria Golf Club, September 3, will rate a look.

More details concerning the appearance of Vancouver's Stan Leonard and South Africa's Gary Player were announced Monday. The two will play in a foursome with Oak Bay's Laurie Carroll, 1958 Times Island Open champion, and Gorge Vale's Joe Pryke.

A half-hour golf clinic, starting at 2 p.m., will precede the 18-hole match.

Sponsors of the exhibition have a $1,000 expense not to crack, but should the exhibition realize any profits, proceeds will be turned over to junior development.

Hardly deductable, says Cec Wesson, nevertheless he enjoyed paying for his hole-in-one at the weekend. The income tax official fired his first ace in 20 years of golfing on the 210-yard 16th at the Gorge course.

J. Morrison, L. Cousen and R. McGee witnessed the ace.

John Merriman carded a fine 34-35-69, three under par, to capture medalist honors in the qualifying round of Gorge Vale's club championship Sunday.

Merriman edged veteran Bob Woods by one stroke. Wee Bobby really scared the back nine with a 32. Out in 38, Woods went over par on only one hole—the 15th. Norm Boden carded a 72 and Al McLeod was another two strokes off the pace.

It took a score of 80 or better to qualify.

Medal honors in the "B" flight went to Bill Burrows, who scored an 84 to edge Bob Oakman and Rick Nott by one stroke.

First round of match play in all flights goes next Sunday.

SHORT CHIPS: Gorge's Bill Wakeham, who turned in such a fine showing at the Canadian Amateur last week, hits the Interior trail next week. He's a great favor, it around Nelson, which was proven when members of the Interior club donated a tidy sum to help him play in the Canadian event at Ottawa. B.C.'s junior team, which includes Victoria's Dickie Munn, heads for the interprovincial battles at Toronto at the weekend.

Mike Bartkow and Robbie Robison are still setting out the table for the Inter-Club Golf League's annual dinner, but haven't set the exact date. Vancouver Island seniors tackle Gorge Vale for an 18-hole medal round Friday. Spencer, defeated a Bremerton team at Colwood.

TIME OUT! JEFF KEAT

"Four can wait! I might as well knock off sixteen while I'm so near it!"

Ashbee's a Handy Type ... When He's Available

VANCOUVER—Don Ashbee may get into trouble with the Inter-city Lacrosse League brass every so often, but he proved once again Monday that he's a pretty handy fellow to have about come playoff time.

Suspended for a game this year and half a season in 1959, Ashbee made Nanaimo fans forget it for the moment as he fired a breakaway goal at 11:29 of the final quarter to give Nanaimo an 11-10 come-from-behind victory and a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven league final.

A crowd of 1,752—about a thousand more than usual—watched Nanaimo roar back from a 10-9 deficit.

Skip MacKay scooped up a bounding ball that Spud Morrell had jarred loose from Bill Barbour's stick, sped down the floor, and tied it up at 10:49.

Forty seconds later, Jack Bionda cleared Bill Chisholm's rebound off the boards, fired to Ashbee, who promptly duplicated MacKay's effort to win the game with a floor-length rush.

It was a fitting climax to a game that had seen Vancouver grab a 3-0 lead right off the bat before Nanaimo got up steam.

In the end the difference had to be old pro Bionda, who always turns in his top efforts when the chips are down. He fired two goals and picked up three assists to keep his club in the game.

Sidney Driver Back in Groove

Sidney driver George Sterne got back into the money at Westwood sports car track near Vancouver over the weekend after some weeks in the doldrums.

The veteran driver piloted his Morgan Plus Four to first place in Class "D" competition on a wet and slick track.

Victoria's Bill Taylor added another win by finishing ahead of the Class "F" pack in his MG-A 1600, and Ken Rumsby finished third in Class "E" in a TR-3.

Taylor finished third in the Le Mans race and Sterne was fourth in the handicap.

NOTES, VOTES, QUOTES

Lost: One Male CCF Candidate

Greater Victoria meetings tonight:
Saanich CCF, 8 p.m., Cordova Bay Community Hall, with candidate Pat Thomas; Saanich Social Crediters, with John Tisdale at Marigold Hall, Marigold near Burnside at 8 p.m.

Out-of-town meetings include CCF candidate for Esquimalt, Geoffrey Mitchell, at Shawigan Lake Community Hall, and his Social Credit opponent, Herb Bruch, at Jordan River Community Hall at 8.

Will someone in Scotland please find George Gibson and tell him there's a general election next month in British Columbia?

Mr. Gibson was nominated CCF candidate in Vancouver-Point Grey before the election was called. Then he left with 120 members of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society for a trip to Scotland.

He was so confident there wouldn't be an election until October that he didn't leave a forwarding address. And he's not due back here until Sept. 11, the day before voting.

Most worried by the whole thing are Cliff Greer and Tom Thomsen, also named CCF candidates in the three-seat Point Grey riding.

Mr. Greer said today it would be impractical and disrespectful to nominate a new candidate in the riding when there's a chance Mr. Gibson will find out about the election and return ahead of schedule.

"We're frantically trying to get in touch with him, but we don't know how," Mr. Greer said.

"The Finlayson Flyer" takes off tonight on a barnstorming campaign tour of the province.

Conservative Leader Deane Finlayson is revving up in a private plane which will whisk him to 14 speaking engagements in five days.

The Tories didn't have a single seat in the last legislature and Finlayson's furious-paced campaign is calculated to amend that.

After speaking in Abbotsford and Chilliwack today, the top Tory gets airborne for the Okanagan, Kootenays, Peace River, then the Cariboo on his way back to the coast.

The Liberals will be singing the blues—for joy—a week Wednesday in the Dominion Theatre.

The noisy Victoria grills will add a vocal trio to their jazz band, the Gashouse Six, for the show.

The three voters of Leechtown have received a visit from Esquimalt CCF candidate Geoffrey Mitchell.

Once a famed mining town, Leechtown, 18 miles from Shawigan Lake, now has only three inhabitants—elderly men each living in his elderly house.

"I canvassed all three," said Mitchell, "and one proved to be an ardent CCFer."

But the community is slipping; in 1956 there were 24 registered voters and a polling station, too. This year the elderly trio will vote at Shawigan Lake.

Souvenir-making was suggested Monday night as an ideal task for idle hands of Victoria's large population of retired or elderly persons.

Conservative aspirant T. H. (Ted) Cressy said "shoddy little goods from Japan and Birmingham" could be replaced by well-made local handicrafts.

"It would bring many of these people back to a useful life," he said.

Busy stumping the Esquimalt riding, Sacred candidate Herbert Bruch takes a modest view of his daily campaign for votes.

"The records show that only about 10 per cent of people are swayed by election campaigning," Bruch says. "The other 90 per cent have already decided which way they will vote."

Saanich is showing more public spirit than any other local riding with four-count'em—all-candidate forums lined up.

Maybe it's the huge increase in voters in the riding—more than 7,000 above 1956—but something has fired them up.

Latest forums have been called for Sept. 9 in Saanich by the Saanich Agricultural Association and Brentwood Chamber of Commerce Aug. 31. Sidney Chamber of Commerce and the Dairymen's Association have similar meetings Sept. 2 and 7.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Today's chill will disappear Wednesday with a maximum temperature of close to 70 degrees.

The expected high today was 63 degrees, the same as Monday.

There will be more sunshine Wednesday, and dryer air, the weatherman predicts.

The 20th annual reunion and dinner of the 3rd Division petrol company of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps will be held Sept. 23 in Vancouver. Local members are asked to contact J. A. "Bud" White at EV 4-5410.

An Oak Bay boy was thrown into the sea Monday when his outboard-powered hydroplane flipped over off Willows Beach.

Fourteen-year-old Bob Hall, 2130 Central, was wearing a life jacket when he upset at 2:20 p.m. and was able to right the tiny, flat-hulled craft while awaiting help.

A boat dispatched from Oak Bay Boathouse towed the disabled craft ashore, police said.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

William Henry Williams, 2912 Quadra, $10 for failing to carry vehicle registration in a conspicuous place.

William M. Templeman, 2243 McNeill, $10 for failing to keep to the right of the island at Fountain Circle.

Edward A. Traska, 1010 Linden, $10 for unreasonable use of horn.

In Esquimalt police court Monday:

Dennis Edward Poutta, HMC Dockyard, and Robert Murray Rutherford, HMC Dockyard, $25 each for driving without a licence.

Donald Edward Hardy, 746 Kings, $35 for careless driving.

External Affairs Minister Green announced Monday he will take part in British Columbia's provincial election campaign.

Mr. Green said he will speak in support of the Conservatives at a meeting in Vancouver Wednesday night.

Donald Bruce Jonson, no fixed address, was sentenced in city police court today to 15 days in jail for vagrancy by begging on Johnson Street.

Court was told the accused asked a number of passersby for money in the 700 block near the government liquor store.

Jonson, who asked Deputy Magistrate J. A. Byers for a "break," and had no previous record, pleaded guilty to the offence.

Eighteen-year-old Kenneth Roy Ross, HMC Dockyard, was fined a total $45 in Esquimalt police court Monday when he pleaded guilty to liquor and litter charges.

Deputy Magistrate J. A. Byers fined the youth $20 for being a minor in possession of liquor and $25 for throwing three beer bottles on Lampson Street.

Cmdr. J. R. Doull, RCN, 2756 Dewdney, former officer in charge of manning facilities at HMCS Naden, will attend a five-month course at the NATO defence college in Paris starting Sept. 1.

B.C. Health Minister Eric Martin will address the Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel on Thursday at noon. His subject will be "Chronic Care."

Thomas Gaines, a sprightly man of 84 who claims to have discovered nature's mightiest weapon for health and youth preservation, is visiting Victoria this week to give a series of lectures at the Club Sirocco.

In his room at the Ingraham Hotel today he explained the theories, which, he says have enabled him and thousands of others to become new people, and which he hopes will allow him to lecture for a further 50 years—he has already completed 43.

The secret, he says, is "vitalic breathing."

"Human beings are the only creatures that don't ventilate

LIQUOR STORE DECISION QUESTIONED

Saanich council Monday decided to find out why the B.C. Liquor Control Board had decided not to establish a liquor store at Shelbourne Plaza.

Coun. George Austin criticized the board for failing to inform council of its reason for not opening a liquor store on the commercial site.

"I don't see why people, especially elderly people, should have to take a bus ride to Victoria to buy a bottle of liquor," he said.

"Most Saanich residents are in favor of the store."

Recreation Centre Seen at Reservoir

A field almost two acres in size and flat as a billiard table is being created on the east side of Mount Tolmie.

That's one way of looking at the huge concrete roof—70,000 square feet—being constructed as a cover for Greater Victoria's water district's new 6,000,000-gallon reservoir.

The structure, which will increase the area's water delivery by 22 per cent and ensure minimum pressure for Lansdowne consumers, will be ready for use by the end of October.

The concrete cover was needed to avert water leakage which occurs when concrete basins expand and contract under direct rays of the sun.

FALLOUT-PROOF

But this engineering necessity has given two byproducts to the community—its first fallout-proof water reservoir and a huge flat area of public land that could be used for a recreational centre.

A gravel base will be laid down over the roof this winter and proper subsurface drainage will be added before a covering of soil is laid down in the summer.

The water district will seed the area with a grass cover and leave it at that.

But one official indicated this would give interested organizations a golden opportunity to take the project from there and develop the level field into a recreational centre.

There is no technical obstacle, provided water district and municipal consent is obtained, to establishment of tennis courts, bowling greens, cricket or soccer pitch or some other sports field.

In fact, the water district might be very happy to see some such development on top of its covered reservoir because it would ensure maintenance of the field without cost to the board.

"After all, it is a flat piece of public land that we would have to let go back to nature because we have no funds for developing it into other uses," said one official.

Week's Remand In Money Order Forgery Charge

A second charge of uttering a forged money order was read in city police court today to James Patrick McDonald, 2635 Rose, who was arrested by a View Royal beer parlor operator Saturday.

It is charged McDonald altered a post office money order to read $99.30 and cashed it.

He asked for a week's remand before electing mode of trial—so he could think more clearly, he told Deputy Magistrate J. A. Byers.

The court granted him until Friday.

In Colwood RCMP court Monday, McDonald was charged with uttering a forged money order for $99.35 and attempting to utter an order for $99.50.

He was remanded to Monday for election on these charges.

Job Aid Branded 'Gimmick, Joke'

Alderman Lashes Top Governments

City council's public works chairman today angrily demanded that the senior governments revamp the "almost useless" winter works program into a more effective job-creating plan.

"At the very least, they should let us know immediately what their intentions are for this year so that we can start planning projects now," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

"So far we haven't heard a word from them. We are completely in the dark as to this year's picture. So long as we don't know where we stand, how can we make plans?"

Ald. Edgelow said the winter works program is "practically a joke—it hardly put a dent in unemployment here last year."

He also lashed it as "a gimmick" under which the senior governments were actually saving themselves money instead of creating jobs and, at the same time, saddling municipalities with heavier costs.

Last winter, the city launched a $61,000 winter works program to which both federal and governments combined contributed only $19,000.

'NIGGARDLY'

Because of the "niggardly" contribution by the senior governments, the city's projects actually created additional jobs for only 21 men in public works department for a period of four months and 15 men in parks department for slightly more than a month.

"That's ridiculously low when you consider the amount of unemployment we had last year in the city and the amount we will have this year unless the senior governments face reality and stop penalizing homeowners," he said.

Ald. Edgelow pointed out that the federal government paid only 50 per cent of specified labor costs in a winter work project, the provincial government 25 per cent and the civic government 25 per cent.

"That sounds good until you take into account the fact that labor is only a 40 per cent factor in these projects. The city has to pay the full 60 per cent cost of materials and equipment."

"So, out of the overall cost of this program, the federal government pays only 22 per cent, the provincial government pays only 11 per cent and the city pays 67 per cent."

"And that means the other governments are actually saving themselves money because these men come off the welfare rolls to which the governments contribute 90 per cent."

"So instead of the city paying 10 per cent of the welfare assistance cost, they make us pay 67 per cent of the cost of employing these same men."

RESOLUTION

Ald. Edgelow maintained that at the very least, the program should be extended to include senior government contributions towards equipment and materials involved in winter work projects.

As a director of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities, he also sponsored a resolution at its annual meeting this summer urging the federal government to replace the winter work program with a year-round public works program for creating jobs.

"It's ridiculous in a rich country like this to have men on social welfare who want to and can work. We should have a program that would give them jobs before their morale is hit by having to go on social welfare," he said.

What about Dr. Barbara Moore, the Russian-born British marathon hiker, who exists on vegetables and fruit juice?

"Well, she's partly right," concedes Mr. Gaines. "But it's always the meat-eating animals that become the leaders and the herbivorous ones that become the prey."

Although he advocates eating "the proper food" he is not a disciple of the "dried grass and milk" religion.

What about Dr. Barbara Moore, the Russian-born British marathon hiker, who exists on vegetables and fruit juice?

"Well, she's partly right," concedes Mr. Gaines. "But it's always the meat-eating animals that become the leaders and the herbivorous ones that become the prey."

Betting Tax Criticized By Tory Head

B.C.'s pari-mutuel tax at the race tracks is "killing horse racing" in the province, says Conservative leader Deane Finlayson.

Mr. Finlayson said today the Conservatives would "examine fully and rectify in whatever way is found to be necessary" the set-up under which betting is taxed 10 1/2 per cent by the government.

Sandown Park nearly lost its fall racing season earlier this month, but a move to shift the meeting to Vancouver was thwarted by the B.C. Racing Commission.

BETS DOWN

One of the major reasons for the proposed move was a decline in betting.

Mr. Finlayson said of every $2 wager, 43 cents or 21 1/2 per cent is taken out for the track and for taxes.

Of this the government gets half, which totalled $1,190,646 for the 1958-59 fiscal year. Figures for the 59-60 year have not yet been released.

The remaining half goes to the race tracks for maintenance.

INADEQUATE

"All the experts, I understand, are agreed that this is wholly inadequate to maintain the various parks . . . or to provide purses that would attract the finest type of thoroughbred," said Mr. Finlayson.

"I have it on highest authority that at least one prominent owner has been so discouraged by this crippling taxation that he and his colleagues have contemplated closing the track in question."

Owners and trainers would, rather race anywhere than B.C., said Mr. Finlayson.

ALPINE PLATEAU

Floral Paradise Located

A flower and bird paradise for plant collectors and ornithologists has been discovered by a group of botanists on alpine plateaus of the Telkwa Valley, near Smithers in the interior of B.C.

Dr. Adam Szczawinski, provincial botanist, who led an expedition to the region, said a profusion of arctic plants and heathers unknown to exist in B.C. were found on heights above the river which empties into the fast flowing Skeena.

The botanist, who spent more than two weeks exploring the region, returned to Victoria with 400 rare plant specimens.

Other discoveries included a large meadow of wild callas lilies, rare ferns and mosses.

The mosses were collected for museum institutions in Sweden.

"We explored a wonderful country," said Dr. Szczawinski. "I'm not an expert on birds, but I notice there were plenty in the region."

Hydrofoil Service Skirts Restriction

A United States law designed to protect the domestic shipbuilding industry is the reason for Victoria's inclusion in a Puget Sound fast hydrofoil service.

Frank A. Calderone, owner of the craft to be used on a Bellingham-Victoria three-month experimental service, said here Monday that United States law prohibits foreign-built ships operating between United States ports.

He said the purpose of the Bellingham-Victoria schedule, with a stop at Friday Harbor, was to show hydrofoil operation is feasible in Puget Sound. The eventual plan is to have ships built in American yards.

The hydrofoil intended for the new service is currently at Astoria, Ore., undergoing repairs to a burned out main bearing after a run down the Columbia from Portland.

Named the Flying Fish, the craft had been in service in the Caribbean.

Mr. Calderone said operating there was difficult because the Flying Fish had to be hauled out of the water once a week to have the hull and hydrofoils cleaned.

Lack of cranes in the area made the haul-out costly, he said.

The Flying Fish was to have started operating about the first of August, but has been plagued with mechanical difficulties. Mr. Calderone said it would be here for a demonstration run in a week or 10 days.

Accent on Elegance in New Season Millinery Perfect Foil for Rich Materials in Clothes

Future history of fashion may well note 1960 as the start of an era when hats of unprecedented beauty and individuality first began to influence modern dress.

The coming season can be characterized by the look of elegance and luxury for Canadian women of every social and financial strata. Clothes are rich in materials, in detail and in color, yet so basically simple and graceful that new sizes and shapes in millinery are essential to give the costume a fresh look of importance.

A royal highness is the clue to the most exciting and flattering new trend in millinery fashions for fall and winter 1960. Crowns have rising importance. Whether they shoot toward the stratosphere at rocket speed or float upward like a child's balloon, even the most dramatic of these new hat shapes have a look and feel of air-borne lightness.

Tiny and conservative women will welcome the many beautiful new hats which rise only slightly higher. But the bold and daring spirits can indulge a flair for wearing hats of extremely inflated silhouettes in the most fabulous furs, jewels, silks and texture-rich bodies without exceeding the bounds of good taste, because softened and subdued costumes of even the most luxurious character still require a stronger accent point in the hat.

A NEW STAR

A revolutionary new fashion is the headline—crashing new concept of "special occasion" hats. Unlike the so-called "cock-tail hat" of previous years, these new hats for evening wear are important in size, shape and volume and designed to be worn with even the most formal gowns.

Bulky-crowned "ballistic" domes, skyscraper toques, deep-tufting helmets, high-rising turbans and over-sized clothes dominate the scene. Hats of these types will be worn for every hour of day or night, for every imaginable occasion except for bed.

FUR SIDE OF FASHION

The fur hat trend continues in high gear. In addition to the now popular minks, broadtails, chinchillas, leopard, opossum, lynx, fox and other novelty furs, trend-setting milliners are offering exciting new-hat styles in furry felts, fur-textured and fur-patterned fabrics.

Frankly "fake" furs up to and including fur-toned and fur-like embroideries and evening jewel-work create another type of fashion thrill this season. Almost-real fur effects are achieved in pile fabrics.

The luxurious look and feel of fall millinery is essentially a matter of size and shape. Many hats are untrimmed save for the artful manipulation of rich beaver-type bodies, gleaming soleils, fluffy furs and furry felts, lavish velvets and satins, brocades and damask, feather pads, curls and sprays. Combinations of two, three or more colors, textures and media are unique and elegant. But even the cosmetic flattery of veiling is usually found as component part of the hat itself—forming a translucent crown or tip or brim or softly misting the surface of other hat materials.

ELEGANCE IN COLOR

Clear and vibrant colors of millinery provide the accent for subdued, deep-toned fall costumes. All the royal purple tones from palest mauve and amethyst to deep plum, grape and raisin, as well as rich sapphire and turquoise blues find favor in millinery. Rich reds, from brilliant ruby and cerise to garnet, as well as many warm-reds from bright scarlet and coral through terra-cotta and russet to dark reddish browns are another important color range. Varied tones of brown, gold, green, taupe, grey and beige are also used to accent the fall costume palette. Individual and inspiring color combinations are frequently seen and a wide range of both velvety matte and highly polished black hats appear for day as well as for evening.

Priced to suit a teenager's allowance, the cases, in pink with dainty designs in gold, sell at $1. There are eight shades of make-up from which to choose—natural, ivory, pink, tawny, golden, bronze and tan.

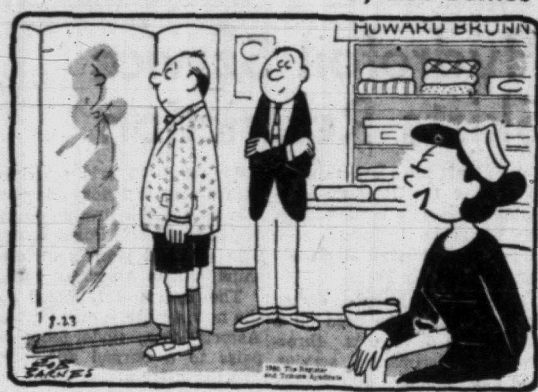

Teen-age daughters, mothers and career girls can find dozens of ways in which versatile pearls will flatter their outfits, whether sweaters and skirts, suits, or that good old standby, the basic dress.

Just unpacked in one downtown store are some beauties that sell at amazingly low price of one dollar. Salesgirl that showed them to me had already bought one to highlight black wool dress. It looked marvellous! Jumbo pearls that always have a high rating with the teen-age set are included in this selection. You can choose from single strand or choker variety and team them up with matching earrings that sell at the same price. Other pearl necklaces, deceptively expensive looking, come in either single, two, three or four strands. With these you can use matching earrings and also, one of the three or four banded bracelets that also sell at $1.

If you would like to know where Penny shopped today give her a ring at EV 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

Your Voice Can Keep You Sounding Young

Our voice has a terrific impact on others! It can be irritating or soothing and it is one of the main ingredients in fascination.

A voice can repel or attract. This is such a well-known fact that today most businesses take this into consideration when hiring and training employees who meet the public over the company telephones.

We women keep avidly abreast of the newest in cosmetics, diet, hair styling, clothes, exercise and figure molding in order to remain as youthful and as attractive as possible, but few of us ever stop to listen to the way we sound. We are likely to take that for granted just as we do the color of our eyes.

More than that, few women realize that age shows just about as quickly in our speaking voice (if we let it) as it does in our faces and figures. Some people keep a youthful-sounding voice all through their lives while others have an ancient-sounding voice in youth. However, the tendency is to all w our voices to age.

The old voice is often harsh or cracked. It may also lack the overtones and undertones of enthusiasm and gaiety, warmth and close attention. One of the most useful and interesting applications of the tape recorder is its use in improving the quality of speech. Here are a few directions for improving your voice:

The sounds should float up from the diaphragm. They should not originate in the throat. By developing your diaphragm you can improve your voice. Lie on the floor with a book on your diaphragm and pant.

Also, try for proper breath control. Without it the first few words of your sentence will be too loud while the last will be raspy and you will have to gasp for breath. A good way to develop breath control is to whisper just as loudly as you can.

Oaklands Chapel Scene of Wedding Ceremony

Pink gladioli and white chrysanthemums decorated Oaklands Chapel, where Huron Sheppard officiated at the marriage of Judith Mary Bignmore and Donald Robert Kenneth Easton. Parents of the couple are Mrs. James Bignmore, 3556 Richmond Road, and the late James Bignmore, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Easton, 2536 Wootton Crescent.

The lace bodice of the bride's gown had short sleeves and the silk organza skirt graduated in tiers. The veil was of French illusion and was held by a headpiece of princess roses and white stephanotis that matched the flowers in the bouquet. Marshall Sheppard gave his niece in marriage.

Mrs. E. Conarroe sang "Till Walk With God" and organist was Miss Darlene Bagshaw.

LAVENDER GOWNS

Lavender silk organza gowns with velvet trim were worn by the four attendants. The maid of honor, Miss Lillian Easton, and the bridesmaids, the Misses Mary Dewar, Nola Neale and Barbara Munday, all had headpieces of rosebuds and feathered carnations and carried bouquets of princess roses.

Murray Easton was best man and ushering were Bryan Burkinshaw, Mel Smith, Eldred Williams, Peter Shewring and David Woodward.

Huron Sheppard proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden. White

Works Minister at Milestone

Public Works Minister W. N. Chant Wednesday marked a milestone in his political career where it began—on the hustings.

"Tonight marks a very memorable occasion for me," he told about 70 persons at a Victoria Social Credit meeting in Norway House.

"It was 25 years ago tonight that the first Social Credit government was elected in Alberta."

Mr. Chant was among the original group of Social Credit members.

Now seeking re-election to the B.C. legislature, he pointed to early Social Credit policies in Alberta of reducing the provincial bonded debt as proof of the party's consistency.

The primary responsibility of a democratic government is to "run the affairs of the country so that industry and private enterprise can produce goods and services." To achieve this end, Social Credit policy is aimed at liquidating bonded debt to prevent it burdening the economy.

He said it was no accident that only the Social Credit administrations in B.C. and Alberta were the provincial governments of Canada to have liquidated bonded debt.

"We're not a half-hearted party. We know where we are going and why we are going. But the Liberals and Conservatives are withering on the vine."

School Tax Query Answered

In answer to a questioner, who asked why the Social Credit government refused to lift the school cost burden from homeowners, Mr. Chant said:

"If you take today's average taxes for schools and deduct the homeowners' grant of $50, the people of British Columbia are paying less in dollars and cents today than they did in 1951-52 for school taxes."

Waldo Skillings, also a Social Credit candidate for Victoria, argued that removing school costs from property taxes would help the rich more than the poor.

Citing his own case, he said he paid $459 in taxes which was reduced by $50 through the homeowners' grant. But the total reduction would be $150 if he did not have to pay school taxes.

"The person who pays the most in taxes would get the greatest benefit," he said. "But Social Credit says that is not fair because the homeowner grant, which would be withdrawn, is designed to help people on fixed incomes."

Mr. Skillings said opposition candidates were making "pie-in-the-sky proposals. It's easy to promise but hard to perform."

The Capital Improvement District Commission has spent about $1,000,000 on the area, 40 per cent of it in Victoria, 40 per cent in Oak Bay and the rest in Saanich and Esquimalt. Mr. Skillings, a CIBC member, said before the government agency is finished "I am sure Victoria will be the most beautiful capital city in Canada and perhaps in the whole western hemisphere."

He added that he was sure "one of the reasons that the reeve of Oak Bay is running on the Social Credit ticket today is that we treated Oak Bay so fairly on the King George Terrace project even though Oak Bay did not have a Social Credit member in the legislature."

The third Social Credit candidate, J. Donald Smith, said the issue at stake in the election "is whether or not to continue the progressive government we have at this time."

He contended that Liberal and Conservative candidates were not warranted in criticizing bridge or highway costs that went over the estimates "because they didn't build enough to get experience when their administrations were in power."

He said it would cost $45,000,000 to $50,000,000 annually to lift school costs off property taxes as proposed by the Liberals.

"In Sidney alone, there are 70 homeowners who pay only $1 a year in taxes and if the grants are withdrawn with the government paying education costs their taxes would increase 25 times immediately. "One has to be careful to watch the gimmick underlying these promises. That would be robbing the poor to pay the rich."

Esquimalt Votes Help

Esquimalt Council agreed Monday night to pay the municipality's share of $45,000 needed by Royal Jubilee Hospital for an extension to its psychiatric wing.

J. W. Allan, clerk, told council that, based on Esquimalt's 8.8 per cent of population of Greater Victoria, the township's share would be $3,960, spread over five years—$792 a year.

The council agreed the first payment would be made next year, provided all four municipalities took on their share.

An application for an electrifying loud speaker truck to operate in the municipality later this month was approved, though a time limit of between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. was set.

ROADWORK—Rather than spend 30 days in jail, or pay a $150 fine, Mrs. Lorraine Anchondo, 28, of Azusa, Calif., picks up empty cans for a mile along the highway near Kernville, Calif., as her sentence for tossing a can from her moving car. Highway Patrolman Jerry Newcomb watches Mrs. Anchondo carry out her sentence. She gathered enough cans to fill 11 gunny sacks.

VICTORIA CANDIDATES START CAMPAIGN

Three Front Challenge Launched by Liberals

Three Liberal candidates teamed up to challenge the Social Credit government on three fronts at the Victoria Liberal riding's first major campaign meeting Monday.

A crowd of 75 heard ex-member George Gregory, ex-provincial commissioner Forrest L. Shaw and city Alderman Geoffrey Edgewood at Sir James Douglas School.

Mr. Shaw called for the orderly development of hydroelectric power resources in B.C., starting with the Columbia River; in order to double the provincial output of 1,500,000 horsepower by the time it is required in seven years.

Although the potential output in B.C. is 20-30 million h.p., it is not propitious to go ahead with the Peace River plan as advocated by the Government on behalf of Wenner-Gren interests, he said.

The cost of power from the far northern Peace plan is estimated to be about three times what it would cost to get power from Washington State if the first stage of the Columbia plan were launched, he pointed out.

Second-stage of the Columbia proposal, a dam on Mica Creek, would provide power at the lower mainland for four mills, compared with six from the Peace, the candidate said.

He pointed to Wenner-Gren's unsavory war record and the apparent deals being made with the government.

Municipal-provincial affairs were discussed by Mr. Edgewood.

Resident home owners should pay no part of school tax, he said. "It should be borne by all the people of B.C."

The candidate said the present concept of school taxation belongs to "horse and buggy days" and puts a burden on home owners and many on fixed incomes.

He said the Liberals would wipe out the 40 per cent of municipal tax paid by home owners for schools.

Candidate Missed
Mr. Gregory, speaking on federal government policy, said he missed Social Credit candidate Waldo Skillings, who he has invited to the public platform for debate and so far has been rejected.

In particular he wanted Mr. Skillings to verify some figures—the taxation on his opponent's house and land.

In four years Skillings' tax increased by $174 from $283, making a total of $457, Mr. Gregory said. In this, the government has helped by $50, the standard home owner grant, leaving an increase of $124.

"This is typical of the way the administration is handling the affairs of this province," Mr. Gregory complained. "And Waldo is only one of more than a million people in British Columbia."

He noted that although Social Credit promised reduced taxes, it had actually created four new ones: 2 per cent on insurance premiums, taxes on the profits of logging and mining companies and new motor vehicle fuel taxes.

"Not a single tax has been reduced affecting you and me," he said.

In its eight years of office, the government has assessed $85,000,000 in extra taxes, an increase of 123 per cent compared with a population increase of 36 per cent, Mr. Gregory told the audience.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The king and queen of Denmark will spend Oct. 4-17 in the United States, the state department announced Monday.

King Frederik and Queen Ingrid will be the guests of President Eisenhower.

(OSCAR CLASS) "POLLYANNA" (Capitol)—starts Wednesday: Walt Disney has come up with two gems.

First a captivating 14-year-old English actress named Hayley Mills.

Secondly, because of her and a fine cast of veterans a family picture of a variety that has become almost as extinct in the land of psychos, murderers and the sinning as the nickel telephone call.

Indeed, there is no reason why Disney's adaptation of Eleanor H. Porter's 1913 novel "Pollyanna" shouldn't prove as pleasing for grandfather as for grandson. It has laughter, warmth, preception and its homey story to tell.

As a matter of fact, "Pollyanna" may be regarded as the best film employing actors that Disney has ever turned out.

Miracle of it all is that Disney stuck fairly closely to the original story and yet managed to lift it out of the mawkish, goody sentimentalism that made the original so nauseating.

Thanks for this happy state may be traced to little Miss Mills who portrayed Pollyanna with such brave realism and naturalness that even the unlikely ending seems almost real. At least it didn't seem silly.

Of course Hayley comes by it naturally. She is the daughter of distinguished English actor John Mills. Her mother is playwright Mary Hayley Bell. Her 19-year-old sister Juliet has been playing in a Broadway vehicle and her 10-year-old brother, John, is about to make his acting debut.

"Pollyanna's" story-line is about orphaned Pollyanna—her father was an English missionary who, with his wife, have gone to join God—who is invited to live with her wealthy, hard-lipped aunt, Jane Wyman. Auntie runs her mansion and the town like Capt. Bligh ran the Bounty. Before long Pollyanna is spreading light and good cheer throughout the lives of everyone with her "Glad" game. She is trying to mend the fractured romance between her aunt and Richard Egan. She would show minister Karl Malden the error of his thinking, shock hypochondriac Agnes Moorehead from her sickbed, egg first maid Nancy Olson on with her romance with James Drury and de-recluse recluse Adolph Menjou.

But it isn't all Pollyanna. In addition to her and the "names" in the cast there are some excellent supplementary actors, such as young Kevin Corcoran, second maid Mary Canfield, cook Reta Shaw, and, of course, town mayor Donald Crisp.

Indeed, when it is over "Pollyanna" reminds one of a first-rate English or Continental film that usually pays more attention to careful casting of the minor roles than do the American films.

In closing: "Pollyanna" is an outstanding family motion picture that makes for a memorable holiday treat.

(OSCAR CLASS) "MYSTERIES OF THE DEEP" (Capitol): A companion picture with "Pollyanna" is Walt Disney's latest true-life short, "Mysteries of the Deep," a 28-minute color adventure with fish that should give Disney his umpteenth nomination for an Academy Award under the "Best Shorts" heading. It has to be seen to be believed.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as: "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores.

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Government 'Corrupt,' CCF Candidate Charges

"The Social Credit government in B.C. is corrupt," Victoria CCF candidate Mrs. May Campbell told a party rally in the Woodsworth Hall, Courtney Street, Monday night.

"It is not an honest government," she declared, "but then you have to go a long way back in our history to find a B.C. government that didn't have some form of corruption."

An audience of 85 heard her address.

Mrs. Campbell based her charge against the present government on figures in the public accounts for 1958-59 and 1959-60.

She said these showed that huge sums allocated for the Trans-Canada Highway and capital construction work had been transferred to debt reduction instead of being used to relieve unemployment.

"Unemployment is one of our worst problems today, yet the government preferred to create a big show by reducing public debt. I say these tactics are dishonest."

Mrs. Campbell said the public accounts showed that $7,106,980 allocated for the Trans-Canada Highway had gone to debt reduction.

SHARES COST

"The federal government shares this cost from 50 to 90 per cent, which means that approximately $11,000,000 worth of employment-creating work was not undertaken."

Mrs. Campbell said page E. 54 of the 1958-59 public accounts showed that a total of $15,196,396 allocated for capital construction work was not spent.

She further charged that, according to the 1959-60 public accounts (E. 53-54), monies allocated for the Trans-Canada Highway were underspent by $2,218,932, while monies for road, bridge and ferry work were underspent by $4,984,230. "These figures show that in the two years when thousands of our B.C. citizens were unemployed, over $24,000,000 allocated for employment-creating work was not used."

"The federal government's participation in the Trans-Canada Highway work would have boosted this to $30,000,000."

Mrs. Campbell said thinking people are now beginning to realize that the $50 homeowner grant is "nothing more than a bribe." It had been given to homeowners instead of to the municipalities, so that the municipalities had to increase taxes.

Claude Ellis, a former MP for Saskatchewan in the federal government, spoke in support of the Victoria CCF candidates.

"I believe the future of the CCF in Canada will in a large measure depend on the result of this B.C. election," he said.

"Whatever government is elected I am sure the CCF will force it to pursue a much more progressive policy where the people are concerned."

Mr. Ellis said the CCF had

ONE MAN DUG IN, 700,000 CRAWLED

BOSTON (UPI)—A sudden transit strike made motorists of straphangers today and Boston experienced its worst traffic tie-up in memory.

Gov. Foster Furcolo declared a state of emergency.

The strike began when a bus driver was suspended for refusing to leave on a run that would have brought him home two minutes late Monday. Word spread like wildfire through the system and one division after another closed down, leaving commuters stranded.

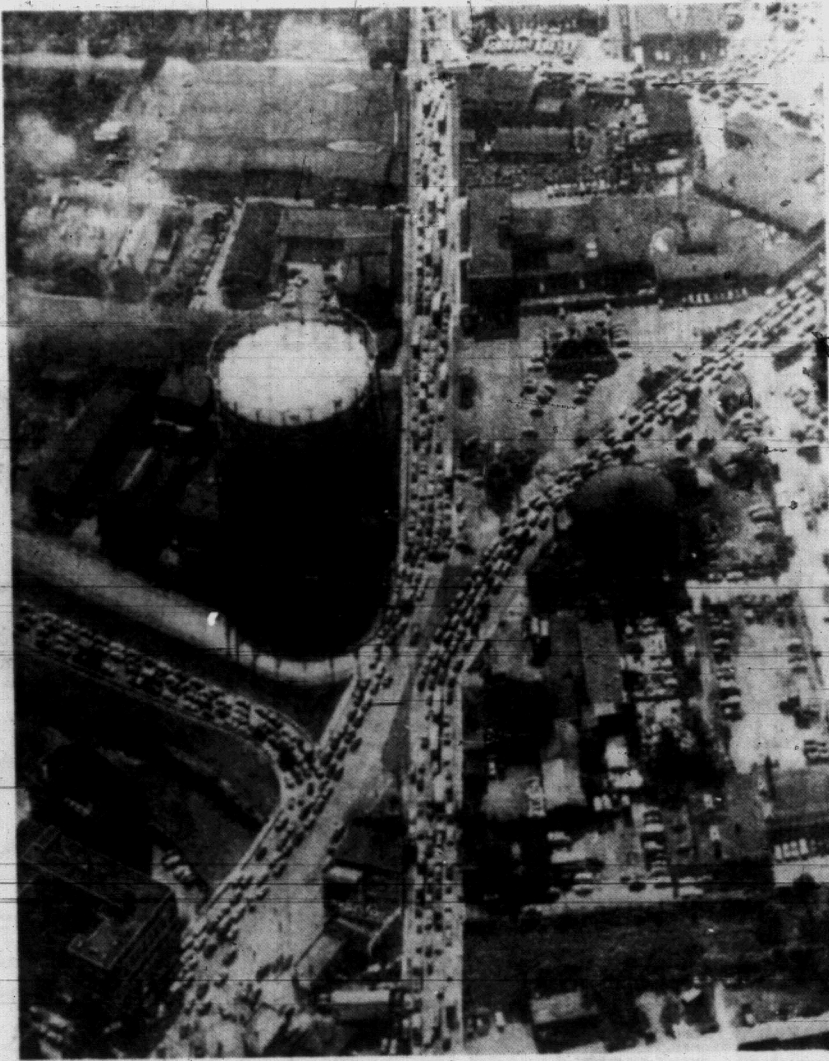

New expressway approaches to the downtown area, suburban freeways and tunnel and bridge approaches were hopelessly clogged Monday night and again during today's rush hour. Over-heated cars stalled and added to the chaos.

All on-street parking in Boston's central core was banned.

The Metropolitan Transit Authority sought a Superior Court injunction against the Carmen's Union even as some 700,000 commuters pondered their fate.

Edward L. Burns, 42, of Westford, was the driver who refused to work two minutes overtime after his normal shift ended, according to the MTA. He was suspended.

MTA workers in some areas walked off their jobs and just before the evening rush hour the agency was shut down completely. There was practically no warning to the public.

This was the morning rush-hour today in hopelessly-clogged Boston.

UN TROOPS FIGHT TRIBE

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—Heavy fighting is reported to have broken out in the Katanga town of Albertville between United Nations troops from the Mali Federation and Balubakat tribesmen.

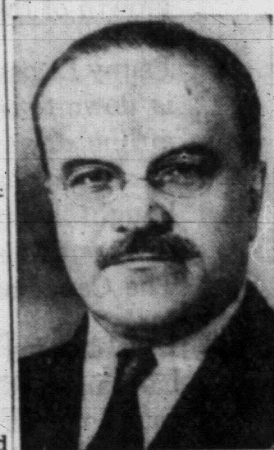

Messages from Albertville say the Mali troops are in a desperate position and are calling for reinforcements. The tribe opposes Katanga's bid for independence from the Congo government.

Mali troops reported "many dead and wounded" but did not say whether these casualties were their own or Balubakat. The reports said Mali troops opened fire to protect their own lives.

In Brussels, a Belgian defence ministry spokesman said Belgian troops have successfully defended the Albertville railway station against attacking Congolese.

The spokesman said Belgian troops, still in charge of maintaining order in Albertville, had to repulse hordes of Congolese armed with lances and bows and arrows, during disturbances Monday and today.

He said the only reports received here made no mention of United Nations troops being involved.

NEW JOB

Former Russian foreign minister V. M. Molotov, "Old Iron Pants" to Western observers, will be brought back from ambassador's post in Outer Mongolia to become Soviet representative at the International Atomic Agency in Vienna. Molotov, 70, fell from grace in the Soviet Communist hierarchy in 1957 and was dismissed from his party and ministerial posts.

De Gaulle Rebuffed By Sudan

PARIS (UPI)—France's former West African colony of Sudan today rebuffed an attempt by President Charles de Gaulle to mediate its explosive dispute with neighboring Senegal.

In a message to De Gaulle, Sudanese Premier Modibo Keita gave no immediate reply to an invitation to come to Paris for mediation of the dispute resulting from the breakup of the Mali Federation, which combined Sudan and Senegal.

MADE CHARGES

Instead, he made what he described as three "very serious" charges against France:

—That French officers had been primarily responsible for the troubles between the Sudan and Senegal.

—That France had "accepted" the breakup of the Mali Federation.

—That France has denounced the agreements linking it with the Mali Federation.

Keita said he would reply "later" to De Gaulle's invitation to come to Paris.

Meantime, Senegal's Premier Mamdou Dia, who pulled his country out of the federation, arrived here for talks with De Gaulle. He confirmed that Seneg-I intends to stand alone as an independent unit.

In an airport statement, he held out no hope that his talks with De Gaulle would do anything to heal the breach with the Sudan.

In July
Over June

OTTAWA (CP)—Unemployment in Canada showed an unusual increase of 11,000 from mid-June to total 311,000 on July 23, the government reported today. The jobless level was 83,000 higher than a year earlier.

The monthly rise in unemployment, attributed mainly to manufacturing and construction layoffs in Ontario and Quebec, was a departure from the normal yearly pattern in which unemployment drops steadily until the low point in September.

"However, construction employment in other regions increased about as much as usual and there were small advances in trade and transportation industries," the report said.

POST-WAR RECORD

The 311,000 unemployed—a post-war record for July—represented 4.7 per cent of a labor force of 6,592,000. Unemployment a month earlier was 4.6 per cent of a 6,454,000 labor force and a year ago, when the labor force was 6,434,000, unemployment was at the 3.5-per cent level.

The last time unemployment rose between June and July was in 1957 in the early stages of the last recession. Last year the monthly jobless figures also departed from the normal pattern by rising between July and August but dropped again in September.

The bureau of statistics said employment increased "somewhat more slowly" than normal between June and July, rising by 127,000 to 6,281,000. This was 75,000 more than the number of job-holders in mid-July last year.

GAIN ON FARMS

All of the monthly gain, however, was in farm employment which rose by 138,000 to 820,000. Employment in non-farm jobs, which usually increases moderately in the month, declined by 11,000 to 5,461,000.

The report on the labor force survey said one of the month's main developments was the annual influx of students into the labor force. The number of job-holders under 20 years of age rose by 174,000 in the month, while the number over 25 years declined by almost 50,000.

The number of persons on temporary layoff rose to 18,000 in mid-July from 15,000 a month earlier and 12,000 a year earlier.

A breakdown of the mid-July unemployment figure showed 260,000 were men—up slightly from June and 74,000 more than a year earlier. An estimated 51,000 were women—the same as a month earlier but 9,000 more than last year.

British Columbia employment rose more than seasonally, up in the month by 22,000 to 354,000, but down from last year. Agriculture, tourism and construction industries contributed to the monthly gain. A number of plywood plants and sawmills shut down for vacations or slowed down because of big inventories and logging was curtailed because of the severe forest fire hazard. Fire fighting gave temporary work for many woods workers. Unemployment declined slightly but remained "substantially higher" than last year.

'Shocking Condition'

OTTAWA (CP)—The 1,100,000-member Canadian Labor Congress said today the latest unemployment figures—showing an unusual 11,000 jump in jobless ranks between June and July—foreshadowed an "extremely serious" outlook for winter work.

"The government's figures on unemployment are evidence of a shocking condition which calls for immediate and urgent government action," said CLC president Claude Jodoin.

TIPSY MR. K MIGHT PRESS 'WAR BUTTON'

HAMILTON (CP)—Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev has all the symptoms of a first-rate alcoholic, according to a United States expert on alcoholism.

Dr. Wayne W. Womer, executive director of Educational Service on the Alcoholism Problem, Richmond, Va., said in an interview Monday there is a chance that Mr. Khrushchev, under the influence of alcohol "might push the button setting off the first atomic bomb some day."

From watching the Russian leader's erratic actions during his visit to the U.S., Dr. Womer said he would imagine him to be a heavy drinker or a drunk.

SILENT ON U.S. CHARGES

Cuba to Show 'Atrocity' Film

By HENRY RAYMONT

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (UPI)—Cuba maintained silence today on U.S. charges that it has become a base "to spread the Communist revolution throughout Latin America."

Cuba's Raul Roa declined to include his name with U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter among the scheduled speakers at western-hemisphere foreign ministers moved into their second day of debate on the issue of communist infiltration.

"We will answer it and when we consider necessary," was his only immediate comment.

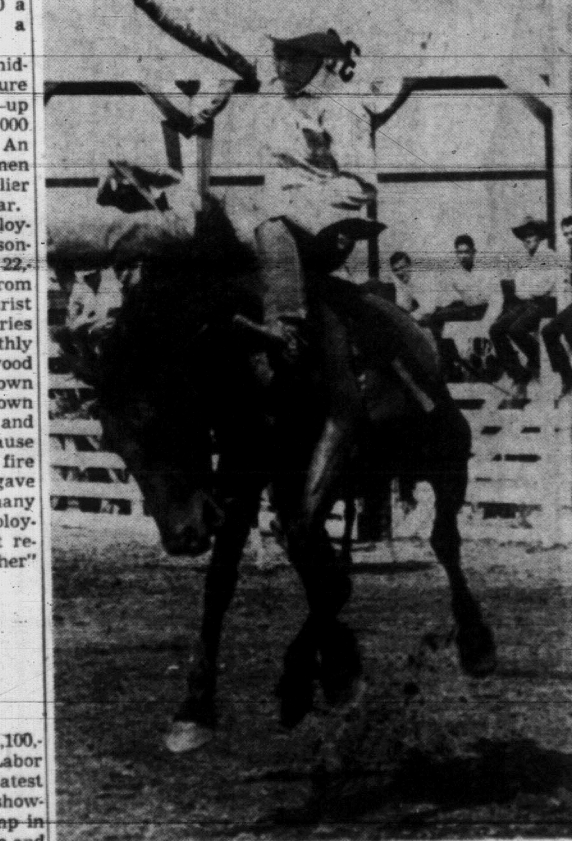

Wednesday when the Cuban delegation has invited newsmen to see some films of "interest."

Observers believed the movies would purport to show atrocities committed by "U.S. imperialists" in Cuba.

The new U.S. denunciation of the Fidel Castro regime, presented to the conference Monday charged that Cuba "is establishing a training program for Communist agents and guerrillas to spread the Communist revolution throughout Latin America."

It said the main work of the campaign was being waged through "an international work brigade" formed with Soviet support in the "common" pattern of Communist infiltration techniques. About 200 members of the brigade were reported to be foreigners, mainly from Iron Curtain countries.

The document, presented as a supplement to a long denunciation filed with the organization of American States earlier this month, further accused the Castro regime of destroying civil liberties to put the people of Cuba behind a "cane curtain."

MRS. POWERS TO LEAVE

Tearful Pilot Says Goodbye

MOSCOW (UPI)—Barbara Powers was reunited for an hour today with her husband, American U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, in a tearful scene that she said may be their last meeting for three years.

Powers' father, mother and sister visited him earlier in the Soviet supreme court building. Newsmen got the impression they did not plan to see him again.

Barbara, 25, said her husband began crying when he learned he probably would face the next three years without them.

Barbara said her 31-year-old husband did not know which prison he would be sent to. She said she probably would be allowed to see him every two months.

Because of the infrequency of such possible visits, Barbara indicated she may not remain in Russia as previously planned.

"He would be worried about how I was living and I would be upset every time I saw him," Barbara said. "It may be better not to see him at all until he gets out of prison and into the labor camp, where I may be able to stay with him a couple of months."

"He was very emotional knowing we would be going away."

Frank Rogers, Barbara's American lawyer, told a news conference that Powers told her he "would be a model prisoner in every way so as to get time off for good behavior."

Rogers said Powers also told his wife he "will try to learn to speak Russian" and "advised her and her mother to go home by boat and get a good rest."

PGE Seeks Link To Alberta Line

FORT ST. JOHN (CP)—Premier Bennett, who has said the Social Credit Party will fight its campaign for the Sept. 12 provincial election on its eight-year record, gave the people of Northern British Columbia something additional as he opened his campaign in Fort St. John Monday night.

Mr. Bennett announced that the government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway has opened negotiations with the Northern Alberta Railway for a second connection between the two lines.

The PGE already connects with the NAR at Dawson Creek. The premier told a political rally that if the NAR will build from Hines Creek to the B.C. border, the PGE will be extended northward to make the next connection.

der that now mostly depend on truck transport.

Mr. Bennett was addressing 600 persons, probably the largest political meeting ever held in this centre of B.C.'s growing northern oil country.

The premier reviewed the eight-year record of his government and made these other main points:

1. Construction will start shortly on a $93,000,000 natural gasline from Fort Nelson to Taylor, near here.

2. Construction will begin forthwith on a vast oil gathering system to bring B.C. crude

NOTES, VOTES, QUOTES

Lost: One Male CCF Candidate

Greater Victoria meetings tonight: Saanich CCF, 8 p.m., Cordova Bay Community Hall, with candidate Pat Thomas; Saanich Social Crediters, with John Tisdale at Marigold Hall, Marigold near Burnside at 8 p.m.

Out-of-town meetings include CCF candidate for Esquimalt, Geoffrey Mitchell, at Shawanigan Lake Community Hall, and his Social Credit opponent, Herb Bruch, at Jordan River Community Hall at 8.

Will someone in Scotland please find George Gibson and tell him there's a general election next month in British Columbia?

Mr. Gibson was nominated CCF candidate in Vancouver-Point Grey before the election was called. Then he left with 120 members of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society for a trip to Scotland.

He was so confident there wouldn't be an election until October that he didn't leave a forwarding address. And he's not due back here until Sept. 11, the day before voting.

Most worried by the whole thing are Cliff Greer and Tom Thomason, also named CCF candidates in the three-seat Point Grey riding.

Mr. Greer said today it would be impractical, and disrespectful to nominate a new candidate in the riding when there's a chance Mr. Gibson will find out about the election and return ahead of schedule.

"We're frantically trying to get in touch with him, but we don't know how," Mr. Greer said.

"The Finlayson Flyer" takes off tonight on a barnstorming campaign tour of the province.

Conservative Leader Deane Finlayson is revving up in a private plane which will whisk him to 14 speaking engagements in five days.

The Tories didn't have a single seat in the last legislature and Finlayson's furious-paced campaign is calculated to amend that.

After speaking in Abbotsford and Chilliwack today, the top Tory gets airborne for the Okanagan, Kootenays, Peace River, then the Cariboo on his way back to the coast.

The Liberals will be singing the blues—for joy—a week Wednesday in the Dominion Theatre.

The noisy Victoria grits will add a vocal trio to their jazz band, the Gashouse Six, for the show.

The three voters of Leechtown have received a visit from Esquimalt CCF candidate Geoffrey Mitchell.

Once a famed mining town, Leechtown, 18 miles from Shawanigan Lake, now has only three inhabitants—elderly men each living in his elderly house.

"I canvassed all three," said Mitchell, "and one proved to be an ardent CCFer."

But the community is slipping; in 1956 there were 24 registered voters and a polling station, too. This year the elderly trio will vote at Shawanigan Lake.

Souvenir-making was suggested Monday night as an ideal task for idle hands of Victoria's large population of retired or elderly persons.

Conservative aspirant T. H. (Ted) Cressy said "shoddy little goods—from Japan and Birmingham" could be replaced by well-made local handicrafts.

"It would bring many of these people back to a useful life," he said.

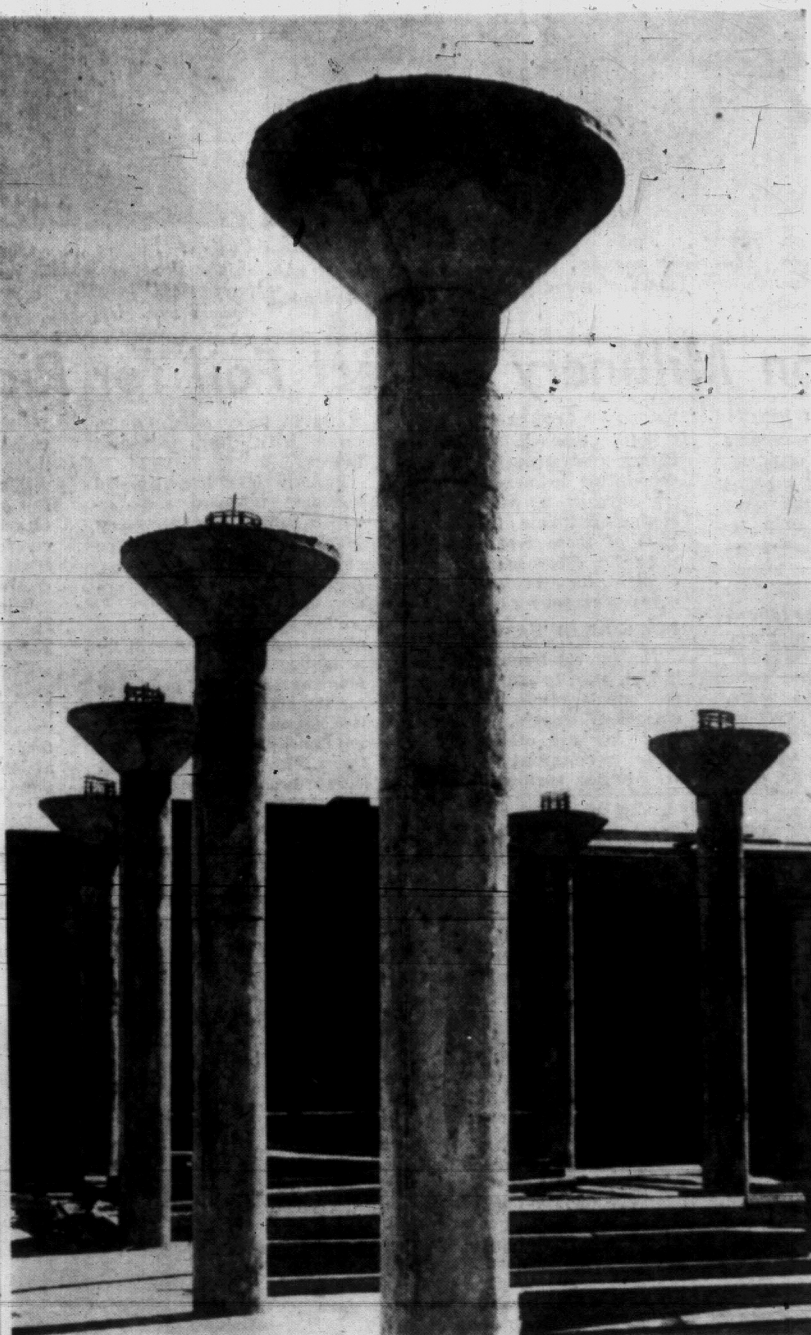

Busy stumping the Esquimalt riding, Sacred candidate Herbert Bruch takes a modest view of his daily campaign for votes.

"The records show that only about 10 per cent of people are swayed by election campaigning," Bruch says. "The other 90 per cent have already decided which way they will vote."

Saanich is showing more public spirit than any other local riding with four—count 'em—all-candidate forums lined up.

Maybe it's the huge increase in voters in the riding—more than 7,000 above 1956—but something has fired them up.

Latest forums have been called for Sept. 9 in Saanich by the Saanich Agricultural Association and Brentwood Chamber of Commerce Aug. 31. Sidney Chamber of Commerce and the Dairywomen's Association have similar meetings Sept. 2 and 7.

LIQUOR STORE DECISION QUESTIONED

Saanich council Monday decided to find out why the B.C. Liquor Control Board had decided not to establish a liquor store at Shelbourne Plaza.

Coun. George Austin criticized the board for failing to inform council of its reason for not opening a liquor store on the commercial site.

"I don't see why people, especially elderly people, should have to take a bus ride to Victoria to buy a bottle of liquor," he said.

"Most Saanich residents are in favor of the store."

Recreation Centre Seen at Reservoir

A field almost two acres in size and flat as a billiard table is being created on the east side of Mount Tolmie.

That's one way of looking at the huge concrete roof—70,000 square feet—being constructed as a cover for Greater Victoria's water district's new 6,000,000-gallon reservoir.

The structure, which will increase the area's water delivery by 22 per cent and ensure minimum pressure for Lansdowne consumers, will be ready for use by the end of October.

The concrete cover was needed to avert water leakage which occurs when concrete basins expand and contract under direct rays of the sun.

FALL-OUT-PROOF

But this engineering necessity has given two byproducts to the community—its first fallout-proof water reservoir and a huge flat area of publicly-owned land that could be used for a recreational centre.

A gravel base will be laid down over the roof this winter and proper subsurface drainage will be added before a covering of soil is laid down in the summer.

The water district will seed the area with a grass cover and leave it at that.

But one official indicated this would give interested organizations a golden opportunity to take the project from there and develop the level field into a recreational centre.

There is no technical obstacle, provided water district and municipal consent is obtained, to establishment of tennis courts, bowling greens, cricket or soccer pitch or some other sports field.

In fact, the water district might be very happy to see some such development on top of its covered reservoir because it would ensure maintenance of the field without cost to the board.

"After all, it is a flat piece of public land that we would have to let go back to nature because we have no funds for developing it into other uses," said one official.

Week's Remand In Money Order Forgery Charge

A second charge of uttering a forged money order was read in city police court today to James Patrick McDonald, 2635 Rose, who was arrested by a View Royal beer parlor operator Saturday.

It is charged McDonald altered a post office money order to read $99.30 and cashed it.

He asked for a week's remand before electing mode of trial—so he could think more clearly, he told Deputy Magistrate J. A. Byers.

The court granted him until Friday.

In Colwood RCMP court Monday, McDonald was charged with uttering a forged money order for $99.35 and attempting to utter another for $99.50.

He was remanded to Monday for election on these charges.

Job Aid Branded 'Gimmick, Joke'

Alderman Lashes Top Governments

City council's public works chairman today angrily demanded that the senior governments revamp the "almost useless" winter works program into a more effective job-creating plan.

"At the very least, they should let us know immediately what their intentions are for this year so that we can start planning projects now," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

"So far we haven't heard a word from them. We are completely in the dark as to this year's picture. So long as we don't know where we stand, how can we make plans?"

Ald. Edgelow said the winter works program is "practically a joke—it hardly put a dent in unemployment here last year."

He also lashed it as "a gimmick" under which the senior governments were actually saving themselves money instead of creating jobs and, at the same time, saddling municipalities with heavier costs.

Last winter, the city launched a $61,000 winter work program to which both federal and governments combined contributed only $19,000.

'NIGGARDLY'

Because of the "niggardly" contribution by the senior governments, the city's projects actually created additional jobs for only 21 men in public works department for a period of four months and 15 men in parks department for slightly more than a month.

"That's ridiculously low when you consider the amount of unemployment we had last year in the city and the amount we will have this year unless the senior governments face reality and stop penalizing homeowners," he said.

Ald. Edgelow pointed out that the federal government paid only 50 per cent of specified labor costs in a winter work project, the provincial government 25 per cent and the civic government 25 per cent.

"That sounds good until you take into account the fact that labor is only a 40 per cent factor in these projects. The city has to pay the full 60 per cent cost of materials and equipment."

"So, out of the overall cost of this program, the federal government pays only 22 per cent, the provincial government pays only 11 per cent and the city pays 67 per cent."

"And that means the other governments are actually saving themselves money because these men come off the welfare rolls to which the governments contribute 90 per cent."

"So instead of the city paying 10 per cent of the welfare assistance cost, they make us pay 67 per cent of the cost of employing these same men."

RESOLUTION
Ald. Edgelow maintained that at the very least, the program should be extended to include senior government contributions towards equipment and materials involved in winter work projects.

As a director of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities, he also sponsored a resolution at its annual meeting this summer urging the federal government to replace the winter work program with a year-round public works program for creating jobs.

"It's ridiculous in a rich country like this to have men on social welfare who want to and can work. We should have a program that would give them jobs before their morale is hit by having to go on social welfare," he said.

Betting Tax Criticized By Tory Head

B.C.'s pari-mutuel tax at the race tracks is "killing-horse racing" in the province, says Conservative leader Deane Finlayson.

Mr. Finlayson said today the Conservatives would "examine fully and rectify in whatever way is found to be necessary" the set-up under which betting is taxed 10½ per cent by the government.

Sandown Park nearly lost its fall racing season earlier this month when a move to shift the meeting to Vancouver was thwarted by the B.C. Racing Commission.

BETS DOWN

One of the major reasons for the proposed move was a decline in betting.

Mr. Finlayson said of every $2 wager, 43 cents or 21½ per cent is taken out for the track and for taxes.

Of this the government gets half, which totalled $1,190,646 for the 1958-59 fiscal year. Figure for the 59-60 year have not yet been released.

The remaining half goes to the race tracks for maintenance.

INADEQUATE
"All the experts, I understand, are agreed that this is wholly inadequate to maintain the various parks . . . or to provide purses that would attract the finest type of thoroughbred," said Mr. Finlayson.

"I have it on highest authority that at least one prominent owner has been so discouraged by this crippling taxation that he and his colleagues have contemplated closing the track in question."

Owners and trainers would rather race anywhere than B.C., said Mr. Finlayson.

ALPINE PLATEAU

Floral Paradise Located

A flower and bird paradise for plant collectors and ornithologists has been discovered by a group of botanists on alpine plateaus of the Telkwa Valley, near Smithers in the interior of B.C.

Dr. Adam Szczawinski, provincial botanist, who led an expedition to the region, said a profusion of arctic plants and heathers unknown to exist in B.C. were found on heights above the river which empties into the fast flowing Skeena.

The botanist, who spent more than two weeks exploring the region, returned to Victoria with 400 rare plant specimens.

Other discoveries included a large meadow of wild calla lilies, rare ferns and mosses. The mosses were collected for museum institutions in Sweden.

"We explored a wonderful country," said Dr. Szczawinski. "I'm not an expert on birds, but I notice there were plenty in the region."

Hydrofoil Service Skirts Restriction

A United States law designed to protect the domestic shipbuilding industry is the reason for Victoria's inclusion in a Puget Sound fast hydrofoil service.

Frank A. Calderone, owner of the craft to be used on a Bellingham-Victoria three-month experimental service, said here Monday that United States law prohibits foreign-built ships operating between United States ports.

He said the purpose of the service was to provide a fast, reliable link between the two cities.

The hydrofoil intended for the new service is currently at Astoria, Ore., undergoing repairs to a burned-out main bearing after a run down the Columbia from Portland.

Named the Flying Fish, the craft had been in service in the Caribbean.

Mr. Calderone said operating there was difficult because the Flying Fish had to be hauled out of the water once a week to have the hull and hydrofoils cleaned.

Lack of cranes in the area made the haul-out costly, he said.

The Flying Fish was to have started operating about the first of August, but has been plagued with mechanical difficulties.

Mr. Calderone said it would be here for a demonstration run in a week or 10 days.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Today's chill will disappear Wednesday with a maximum temperature of close to 70 degrees.

The expected high today was 65 degrees, the same as Monday.

There will be more sunshine Wednesday, and dryer air, the weatherman predicts.

The 20th annual reunion and dinner of the 3rd Division petrol company of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps will be held Sept. 23 in Vancouver. Local members are asked to contact J. A. "Bud" White at EV-45410.

An Oak Bay boy was thrown into the sea Monday when his outboard-powered hydroplane flipped over off Willows Beach.

Fourteen-year-old Bob Hall, 2130 Central, was wearing a life jacket when he upset at 2:20 p.m. and was able to right the tiny, flat-hulled craft while awaiting help.

A boat dispatched from Oak Bay Boathouse towed the disabled craft ashore, police said.

TRAFFIC FINES
In city police court today: William Henry Williams, 2912 Quadra, $10 for failing to carry vehicle registration in a conspicuous place.

William M. Templeman, 2243 McNeill, $10 for failing to keep to the right of the island at Fountain Circle.

Edward A. Traska, 1010 Linden, $10 for unreasonable use of horn.

In Esquimalt police court Monday: Dennis Edward Poutia, HMC Dockyard, and Robert Murray Rutherford, HMC Dockyard, $25 each for driving without a licence.

Donald Edward Hardy, 716 Kings, $35 for careless driving.

External Affairs Minister Green announced Monday he will take part in British Columbia's provincial election campaign.

Mr. Green said he will speak in support of the Conservatives at a meeting in Vancouver Wednesday night.

Donald Bruce Ionson, no fixed address, was sentenced in city police court today to 15 days in jail for vagrancy by begging on Johnson Street.

Court was told the accused asked a number of passersby for money in the 700 block near the government liquor store.

Ionson, who asked Deputy Magistrate J. A. Byers for a $20 fine, had no previous record, pleaded guilty to the offence.

Eighteen-year-old Kenneth Roy Ross, HMC Dockyard, was fined a total $45 in Esquimalt police court Monday when he pleaded guilty to liquor and litter charges.

Deputy Magistrate J. A. Byers fined the youth $20 for being a minor in possession of liquor and $25 for throwing three beer bottles on Lampson Street.

Cmdr. J. R. Doull, RCN, 2756 Dewdney, former officer in charge of manning facilities at HMCS Naden, will attend a five-month course at the NATO defence college in Paris starting Sept. 1.

Mr. Doull will address the Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel on Thursday at noon. His subject will be "Chronicle Care."

There is no technical obstacle, provided water district and municipal consent is obtained, to establishment of tennis courts, bowling greens, cricket or soccer pitch or some other sports field.

In fact, the water district might be very happy to see some such development on top of its covered reservoir because it would ensure maintenance of the field without cost to the board.

GREETINGS, GATE—LET'S VENTILATE

Breathing Along to Health, Happiness

Thomas Gaines, a sprightly man of 84 who claims to have discovered nature's mightiest weapon for health and youth preservation, is visiting Victoria this week to give a series of lectures at the Club Sirocco.

In his room at the Ingraham Hotel today he explained the theories, which, he says, have enabled him and thousands of others to become new people and which he hopes will allow him to lecture for a further 50 years—he has already completed 43.

The secret, he says, is "vitalic breathing."

"Human beings are the only creatures that don't ventilate their lungs," he said. "Every now and again a horse snorts and every elephant pant a dog exhales deeply."

Striding up and down he demonstrated his version for humans—two breaths in and one out, each breath coinciding with a pace.

Whistling while you walk helps, too, he said.

The right food is all important, he claims, as food has a direct bearing on eyesight and hearing. He himself does not wear glasses, is not hard of hearing and does not smoke nor drink.

Born in Ireland, he started work at the age of 10 and by the time he was 14 ran his own stamp and book business.

At the age of 17 Thomas Gaines was forced to leave home and joined the Royal Artillery in England. His service there included a spell of guard duty for Queen Victoria.

He emigrated to America in 1896 and after a brief spell in the American Army he took a "stronger personality" course.

"That made a new man of me," he said, "and I became determined to succeed."

It was after that that he started experimenting with "the right and wrong things to eat and the right and wrong way to breathe."

By 1917 he had developed a system of breathing and dieting that had cured several supposedly incurable people and, he says, he was urged by doctors to devote the remainder of his life to spreading his theories.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I have a nine-foot high cactus in my living room and this plant now hits the ceiling. I don't like to destroy it but whom could I ask for a proper treatment?—S.K.

A. It depends on the type of cactus whether or not it can be successfully cut back. You could get advice from most nurseries.

Q. When did the Royal North West Mounted Police become the Royal Canadian Mounted Police?—L.R.T.

A. In 1920, when the RNWMP merged with the Dominion Police that had been policing government property at Ottawa and elsewhere.

Last Voyage Too Late For Skipper

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP)

An oldtime riverboat pilot collapsed and died Saturday on the eve of his final return to the river.

Emil J. Forrest, 71, who was to pilot the 613-ton stern-wheeler Keno on its final trip down the 425-mile route to Dawson, died during the launching of the ship.

Three hours after he died the Keno was successfully pulled and pushed off the warped ways where she had rested for the last six years.

TRICKY WATERS

Mr. Forrest was picked as the best man to guide the Keno down the rough and tricky waters of the Lewes and Yukon Rivers to Dawson.

He started his river career on the Yukon at 21 as an assistant pilot charting the tricky channels between Circle, Alaska, and the Yukon.

Dockers Sign 2-Year Pact

Longshoremen in Victoria, Chemainus, Port Alberni, Vancouver and New Westminster have approved a contract settlement for wage increases of 16 cents an hour over two years.

The agreement also provides for a guaranteed 25-hour work week as protection against increased mechanization.

The Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union announced Monday members voted 75 per cent in favor of accepting the agreement.

Health Danger Feared In Duncan Wading Pool

DUNCAN

Dr. C. J. G. MacKenzie, head of the Central Vancouver Island Health Unit, Monday informed Duncan city council the "bathing load is far in excess of the capacity" of the Duncan-Kinsmen Club's wading pool.

"By mid-afternoon the degree of pollution must be high," Dr. MacKenzie said. He suggested a constant flow of water be created or a system of recirculating the water and purifying.

City council fills the pool each day and cleans out the pool between filling operation. Mayor J. T. Dobson asked city clerk Gordon Berry to investigate the cost of a filtering system. "It will save an awful lot of water," Mayor Dobson said.

SATANIA ISLAND—J. M. Campbell, director of the Gulf Islands Navigation Co., said Monday the company has offered to provide increased service between the Gulf Islands and Vancouver Island if the provincial government will cover the operating deficit.

SAANICHTON—Grand champion Angus female at Chilliwack Exhibition, Mayflower B.F. of Woodwyn Farm, Saanichton, has been sold to G. H. Leur of Richmond for $2,000.

Mayflower, a senior yearling heifer, was bred at Woodwyn, son of Blackbird Stype. Woodwyn Farm took all the female championships at the recent Chilliwack show, 12 firsts and two seconds.

PORT ALBERNI—The 200-passenger vessel Lady Rose, formerly on the Gulf Islands run out of Vancouver, has taken over the tri-weekly service between here and Barkley Sound, replacing the smaller vessel, Uchuck I.

DUNCAN—Council Monday approved a $500 grant to the Cowichan Exhibition to help finance a $1,250 metal mobile stage expected to last 25 years.

When the platform is not required by the exhibition, it will be made available to community organizations "without whose financial and material assistance it would be impossible to maintain the fair in solvent operation," fair president John Kerone said.

NANAIMO—The 25 crew members of the freighter Sithonia, who went on a token strike Monday in sympathy with the strike of seamen in Britain, called it off on hearing three others "for kicks," mental health commissioner Henry Ludens reported Monday.

Ludens ordered an investigation into the three deaths, previously believed to be from natural causes.

He said the youths, Robert Brown, 18, and John Turner, 14, were transferred to the Lima State Hospital for the criminally insane.

Ludens said attendants Sunday night caught the pair wrapping a sheet and towels about the throat of a 39-year-old patient in the custodial ward.

The commissioner quoted the pair as admitting they were attempting to cause the patient's death and saying they would kill others if they had the chance.

Three Smothered 'For Kicks'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)

Two young patients of Galtanock State Hospital, caught trying to smother a third patient, said they smothered three others "for kicks," mental health commissioner Henry Ludens reported Monday.

Ludens ordered an investigation into the three deaths, previously believed to be from natural causes.

He said the youths, Robert Brown, 18, and John Turner, 14, were transferred to the Lima State Hospital for the criminally insane.

Ludens said attendants Sunday night caught the pair wrapping a sheet and towels about the throat of a 39-year-old patient in the custodial ward.

Of Four Killed

FERNIE, B.C. (CP) — A Vancouver family of four and two other adults died in the early-morning darkness today when their car missed a detour and plunged 60 feet into the Elk River, 30 miles south of here.

The car, flattened on the rocks adjacent to the river bed, was discovered by a foreman on a bridge project. The driver had apparently not seen the construction signs.

Charles Hutchinson, his wife and their two children, all of Vancouver, were among the victims. The other two were not immediately identified.

Foreman Neils Anderson of the Dawson Hall Construction Company project notified police when he found a guard rail broken as his crew started work.

The old-model car was out of the water, lying on a strip of land at the bottom of the river's steep sides.

A Fernie police officer said the Hutchinsons had relatives in the Fernie area. They were travelling north on Highway 93 which connects this East Kootenay area with the United States.

All the bodies were brought here.

Police said the bridge project was preceded by ample warning signs. The road approaches the project at a down-grade.

De Gaulle
Rebuffed
By Sudan

PARIS (UPI)—France's former West African colony of Sudan today rebuffed an attempt by President Charles de Gaulle to mediate its explosive dispute with neighboring Senegal.

In a message to De Gaulle, Sudanese Premier Modibo Keita gave no immediate reply to an invitation to come to Paris for mediation of the dispute resulting from the breakup of the Mali Federation, which combined Sudan and Senegal.

MADE CHARGES

Instead, he made what he described as three "very serious" charges against France: —That French officers had been primarily responsible for the troubles between the Sudan and Senegal.

—That France had "accepted" the breakup of the Mali Federation.

—That France has denounced the agreements linking it with the Mali Federation.

Keita said he would reply "later" to De Gaulle's invitation to come to Paris.

Meantime, Senegal's Premier Mamdou Dia, who pulled his country out of the federation, arrived here for talks with De Gaulle. He confirmed that Senegal intends to stand alone as an independent unit.

In an airport statement, he held out no hope that his talks with De Gaulle would do anything to heal the breach with the Sudan.

700,000 CRAWLED

BOSTON (UPI) — A sudden transit strike made motorists of straphangers today and Boston experienced its worst traffic tie-up in memory.

Gov. Foster Furcolo declared a state of emergency.

The strike ended at 3.30 p.m. today when general manager T. J. McLernon agreed to six union demands.

The strike began when a bus driver was suspended for refusing to leave on a run that would have brought him home two minutes late Monday. Word spread like wildfire through the system and one division after another closed down, leaving commuters stranded.

New expressway approaches to the downtown area, suburban freeways and tunnel and bridge approaches were hopelessly clogged Monday night and again during today's rush hour. Over-heated cars stalled and added to the chaos.

All on-street parking in Boston's central core was banned.

The Metropolitan Transit Authority sought a Superior Court injunction against the Carmen's Union even as some 700,000 commuters pondered their fate.

Edward L. Burns, 42, of Westford, was the driver who refused to work two minutes overtime after his normal shift ended, according to the MTA. He was suspended.

MTA workers in some areas walked off their jobs and just before the evening rush hour the agency was shut down completely. There was practically no warning to the public.

Woman Dies After Freak Car Crash

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Mary Lisa Lewis, 35, died in hospital today of injuries suffered in a highway accident Monday three miles west of here.

Police said a wheel fell from her vehicle, it went out of control and crashed off the road.

Canucks Trying to Get Paille

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Canucks are attempting to acquire the services of goaltender Marcel Paille for the 1960-61 Western Hockey League season.

Paille played last season with Springfield Indians of the American League and is considered one of the top goalies in minor professional hockey.

UN TROOPS
FIGHT TRIBE

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—Heavy fighting is reported to have broken out in the Katanga town of Albertville between United Nations troops from the Mali Federation and Balubakat tribesmen.

Messages from Albertville say the Mali troops are in a desperate position and are calling for reinforcements. The tribe opposes Katanga's bid for independence from the Congo government.

Mali troops reported "many dead and wounded" but did not say whether these casualties were their own or Balubakat. The reports said Mali troops opened fire to protect their own lives.

In Brussels, a Belgian defence ministry spokesman said Belgian troops have successfully defended the Albertville railway station against attacking Congolese.

The spokesman said Belgian troops, still in charge of maintaining order in Albertville, had to repulse hordes of Congolese armed with lances and bows and arrows, during disturbances Monday and today.

He said the only reports received here made no mention of United Nations troops being involved.

PGE Seeks Link
To Alberta Line

FORT ST. JOHN (CP)—Premier Bennett, who has said the Social Credit Party will fight its campaign for the Sept. 12 provincial election on its eight-year record, gave the people of Northern British Columbia something additional as he opened his campaign in Fort St. John Monday night.

Mr. Bennett announced that the government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway has opened negotiations with the Northern Alberta Railway for a second connection between the two lines.

The PGE already connects with the NAR at Dawson Creek. The premier told a political rally that if the NAR will build from Hines Creek to the B.C. border, the PGE will be extended northward to make the next connection.

The move would provide direct rail transport for a vast productive oil and agriculture area on both sides of the border that now mostly depend on truck transport.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (UPI)—Cuba maintained silence today on U.S. charges that it has become a base "to spread the Communist revolution throughout Latin America."

Cuba's Raul Roa declined to include his name with U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter among the scheduled speakers at western-hemisphere foreign ministers moved into their second day of debate on the issue of communist infiltration.

"We will answer it and when we consider necessary," was his only immediate comment.

He was considered certain, however, to launch a slashing counter-attack against the United States before the conference is over — possibly by Wednesday when the Cuban delegation has invited newsmen to see some films of "interest."

Observers believed the move.

Unusual Summer
Jump Reported

OTTAWA (CP) — The 1,100,000-member Canadian Labor Congress said today the latest unemployment figures—showing an unusual 11,000 jump in jobless ranks between June and July—forecasts an "extremely serious" outlook for winter work.

"The government's figures on unemployment are evidence of a shocking condition which calls for immediate and urgent government action," said CLC president Claude Jodoin.

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment in Canada showed an unusual increase of 11,000 from mid-June to total 311,000 on July 23, the government reported today. The jobless level was 83,000 higher than a year earlier.

The monthly rise in unemployment, attributed mainly to manufacturing and construction layoffs in Ontario and Quebec, was a departure from the normal yearly pattern in which unemployment drops steadily until the low point in September.

"However, construction employment in other regions increased about as much as usual and there were small advances in trade and transportation industries," the report said.

POST-WAR RECORD

The 311,000 unemployed—a post-war record for July—represented 4.7 per cent of a labor force of 6,592,000. Unemployment a month earlier was 4.6 per cent of a 6,454,000 labor force and a year ago, when the labor force was 6,434,000, unemployment was at the 3.5-per cent level.

The last time unemployment rose between June and July was in 1957 in the early stages of the last recession. Last year the monthly jobless figures also departed from the normal pattern by rising between July and August but dropped again in September.

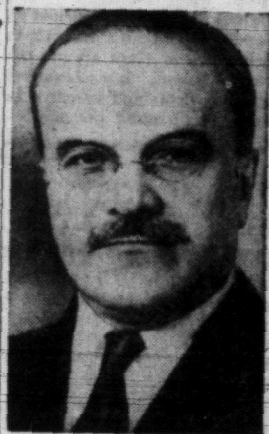

The bureau of statistics said employment increased "somewhat more slowly" than normal between June and July, rising by 127,000 to 6,281,000. This was 75,000 more than the number of job-holders in mid-July last year.

GAIN ON FARMS

All of the monthly gain, however, was in farm employment which rose by 138,000 to 820,000. Employment in non-farm jobs, which usually increases moderately in the month, declined by 11,000 to 5,461,000.

The report on the labor force survey said one of the month's main developments was the annual influx of students into

MRS. POWERS TO LEAVE

Tearful Pilot
Says Goodbye

MOSCOW (UPI)—Barbara Powers was reunited for an hour today with her husband, American U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, in a tearful scene that she said may be their last meeting for three years.

Powers' father, mother and sister visited him earlier in the Soviet supreme court building. Newsmen got the impression they did not plan to see him again.

Barbara, 25, said her husband began crying when he learned he probably would face the next three years without them.

Barbara said her 31-year-old husband did not know which prison he would be sent to. She said she probably would be allowed to see him every two months.

Because of the infrequency of such possible visits, Barbara indicated she may not remain in Russia as previously planned.

"He would be worried about how I was living and I would rest."
